Communists To Send 400 Prisoners a Day Starting Next Tuesday

First Handed Over Will Be Non-Koreans

Sick and Wounded Americans, British POW's in Initial Group

MUNSAN (AP) — The Communists today informed the Allies they plan to hand over 400 Allied captives daily beginning 9 a. m. Wednesday (7 p. m. Tuesday EST).

The Reds said they will deliver the Allied POWs in groups of 100 each hour for 4 hours each day.

The Red Chinese Peiping radio said earlier the first Allied prisoners released would be "non-Korean" sick and wounded, including Americans and British.

The U. N. captives "are about to start moving" down toward Panmunjom, the Communists said.

A U. N. spokesman said North Korean Col. Lee Pyong Il presented the Red schedule this afternoon to U. S. Army Col. L. C. Friedersdorff. The colonels head the teams negotiating at Panmunjom on details for "Operation Big Switch."

The Wednesday starting date had been announced several days ago, but this was the first disclosure of how many Allied prisoners would be handed over daily and what time of day the exchange will begin.

Red newsman Wilfred Burchett of the Paris Daily L'Humanite told Allied correspondents outside the conference hut he believes sick and wounded prisoners will make up the bulk of the first exchange. The Reds have said they hold about 500 disabled Allied prisoners.

The Communists said they hold 12,763 Allied prisoners, including 3,313 Americans. The Allies are handing back about 7,000 Reds.

At the announced rate of exchange, all Allied POWs should be free after 32 days. Truce terms set a limit of 60 days from the signing last Monday for completion of the trade.

1st Convoy of POW's On Way to Freedom

LONDON (AP)—A motor convoy with the first batch of non-Korean prisoners of war to be released by the Communists under the armistice agreement left Pyoktong, North Korea, for Kaesong this morning, Peiping radio reported.

They are expected to reach Kaesong on Monday, two days before the POW exchange is due to begin, a broadcast heard here said.

There were some sick and wounded among this first contingent.

There were a number of British in this first batch, the broadcast indicated, although it gave no other information on nationalities or numbers.

More Than Half an Inch Of Rain Falls in Marion

A little over six-tenths of an inch of rain fell on Marion in a 35-minute period this morning. Officials at the Marion weather station reported a total of .62 of an inch rainfall.

This latest fall, coupled with the .34 of an inch which fell Thursday afternoon, brought the total precipitation for the area during the week to .96 of an inch.

House Approves Boost

Fate of Federal Debt Hike in Senate's Hands

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower's 11th-hour plea for a 15-billion-dollar boost in the national debt ceiling goes to a highly uncertain fate before a dubious Senate Finance Committee today.

The House gave the President a roaring victory on the politically explosive issue by a 239-158 vote last night. Then House Republican Leader Halleck of Indiana announced the House should be ready to quit and go home by tonight.

But there appeared to be far more opposition in the Senate, particularly among the Democrats. And the Senate Democrats are in a majority now, 47-46 over the Republicans, because of the deaths of Senators Charles Tobey (R-NH) and Robert A. Taft (R-Ohio).

The Finance Committee session was called to meet behind closed doors, with Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey as the star administration witness.

He had a tough selling job on his hands. More than half of the 15 committee members were on record as being actively against the proposed hike in the 275-billion-dolar ceiling, or at least highly doubtful about it at this time.

Humphrey has said that, if the ceiling on what his country can legally owe is not boosted to 290 billion dollars, the government might not be able to meet its payroll or pay its bills. And that, he contends, "would just cause a near panic."

Sen. Millikin (R-Colo), the committee chairman, said Humphrey —one of the most respected Cabinet members on Capitol Hill— would be given "all the time he needs to state his case."

Millikin, who also is chairman of the Conference of All Republican Senators, was making no predictions and not even announcing his personal position. But the administration obviously was counting on him to help pick up some doubtful votes.

Hanging on the committee's decision was the question of when this Congress can close up shop.

The leaders had been figuring for weeks on this as the last day.

But the request to boost the debt limit and the death of Sen. Robert A. Taft (R-Ohio) upset the reckoning.

Sen. Knowland of California, acting Republican leader since Taft fell fatally ill, announced yesterday that he and three other Senate leaders had shelved plans to fly to Korea tomorrow with Secretary of State Dulles.

Knowland, Democratic Leader Lyndon Johnson of Texas and Senators H. Alexander Smith (R-NJ) and Russell (D-Ga) said they felt they had to stay in Washington until the debt limit issued was settled.

The deadline for adjournment by tonight still could be met if the Finance Committee rejected the debt plan. Most of the other legislative business is cleaned up.

A compromise $6,652,422,390 foreign aid money bill, approved finally by the House 237-156 yesterday, is up for Senate concurrence today.

Hope Their Sons Will Turn Up

Marion Parents Await News of Missing Soldiers

Parents and friends of Marion area servicemen reported missing in the Korean War are anxiously awaiting word about their sons from the Department of Defense.

With the exchange of prisoners scheduled to start next week, they hope their sons will turn up among the returnees, and not on a "killed in action" list.

One of the mothers of the six Marion area men missing in action, Mrs. Fred Orth of 443 Waterloo St., has "plenty of hope" and isn't going "to give up until the last minute."

This is the feeling of most of the parents.

Her son, Pfc. Karl L. Dye, was nearing the end of his duty tour in Korea when he was reported missing in action on July 16, 1950. In the artillery division of the 24th Infantry, he wrote in the last letter received by Mr. and Mrs. Orth, that he would probably be "over there within a week or two." The letter was received on June 30, 1950.

Pfc. Dye was in Japan when hostilities began in Korea. He enlisted in the Army in September of 1949. At the time, he was employed by Guy Roux of DeCliff. He took his basic trainging at Ft. Knox, Ky., and went to Seattle, Wash., where he was sent to Japan in March of 1950.

The mother of Sgt. Edwin Lavern Morgan, Mrs. Betty Leatherman of near Marion, still has hope for her son who was reported missing in action Dec. 2, 1951.

U.S. Rejects Reds' Protest Over Airplane

Insists Russia Bear Responsibility for Sending Ship to Korea

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States today rejected Russia's protest that American pilots shot down a Soviet plane. Instead, the State Department said, Russia bears the responsibility for sending the plane into "the Korean zone of hostilities."

The Russian protest, handed to U. S. Ambassador Charles Bohlen in Moscow yesterday, claimed the plane was destroyed and 21 lives were lost when four U. S. fighters attacked it over Chinese territory north of the Korean boundary last Monday, about 10 hours before the cease fire became effective.

The United States replied today the attack by a U. S. fighter plane under the U. N. command actually occurred "inside Korean territory approximately eight miles from the Yalu River."

This, it said, was in the Korean combat zone.

The U. S. reply was contained in a note sent by the U. S. Embassy to the Soviet foreign office in Moscow. The State Department released the text of that note plus an unofficial translation of the Soviet note.

There was no denial on the part of the United States that the big Russian transport, an IL12 type aircraft, had been destroyed by fighter fire. In fact, the incident was fully disclosed by the U. N. at the time. The issue raised by the Russians was over where the attack occurred.

They delayed filing their complaint for four days. This led State Department officials to speculate that perhaps the Russians were seeking to divert attention from another plane shooting incident of last Wednesday.

In this case the United States charged an Air Force B50 was shot down off the Siberian coast and that the Soviets picked up survivors from the sea.

A note to Moscow yesterday protested the incident and asked information on the supposed survivors. The Russians claimed, in that case, that the bomber violated Soviet territory.

In the note on the IL12, the United States told Russia this nation "can only deplore the loss of life incurred in this incident."

"In view of the fact, however, that the incident occurred in the Korean zone of hostilities," the American note added, "the responsibility therefore must rest with those Soviet authorities who flew the Soviet aircraft through Korean territory."

Meanwhile, two senators complained bitterly that the United States had been outfoxed.

Sen. Flanders (R-Vt), a member of the armed services committee, said that letting the U.S.S.R. tell the world first about the B50 incident in the Sea of Japan was "just another case of stupidity at the Pentagon or the State Department, or both."

Sen. Sparkman (D-Ala) a member of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, said, "I think it's a mistake to let the Russians and Communists get the jump on us so many times. It puts us continually in the position of answering Communist propaganda when we could be out first with the real acts."

Flanders said pro-Communist or even neutral peoples could "get the impression that the Soviet is telling the truth and that we're trying to get out of an incident."

Both senators expressed their opinions in interviews.

The U. S. case on the B50 was bolstered by the testimony of the

Watch and Wait Game Played

Police Hoping for Clue In Highway Killer Hunt

LISBON, Ohio (AP)—A grim watch-and-wait game was played on Northeastern Ohio highways last night.

On one side was a gunman, probably a lone hand, who wounded a sleeping truck driver near here yesterday morning.

On the other side—hoping for a clue and trying to anticipate the next move were highway patrolmen, local police and hundreds of angry, fear-chilled truck drivers.

They believe the gunman is the same man who killed two drivers asleep in their truck cabs on the Pennsylvania Turnpike near Pittsburgh—one last Saturday, the other Tuesday.

Rewards for the capture of the killer now amount to $11,000. The Pennsylvania Motor Truck Asso. and the Teamsters Union, AFL, have offered $5,000 each. Continental Transportation Lines, Inc., of Pittsburgh has put up $1,000.

After the turnpike killings, highway patrolmen had been warning drivers not to park and sleep in isolated spots. The wounding of John K. Sheperd, 34, of West Alexander, Pa. a mile and a half southeast of here early yesterday morning brought additional patrol manpower to the area.

Ballistics tests still must be made before it is established definitely that the same .32-caliber automatic used in the two Western Pennsylvania slayings fired the slug that pierced the side of Sheperd's head and lodged in his jaw. The slug was removed at Salem City Hospital where Shep-

State Funeral To Be Held For Sen. Taft Monday in Capitol Building Rotunda

IN HONOR OF MR. REPUBLICAN. Capitol Policeman William Hegle lowers the flag to half staff on the Senate office building following the death of Senator Robert A. Taft, Ohio's "Mr. Republican."

Leading Officials To Attend Rites; Burial To Be In Cincinnati

WASHINGTON (AP)—Congressional leaders decided today to honor Sen. Robert A. Taft with a state funeral, and other high government officials to attend the memorial services, at 11 a.m. EST Monday.

The services will be in the rotunda of the Capitol.

Jack Martin, administrative assistant to the late Senate leader, announced the decision for a state funeral was reached at a conference in the office of J. Mark Trice, secretary of the Senate.

A little later, Sen. Knowland (R-Calif), the acting majority leader, offered a resolution scheduling the memorial service and it was immediately approved unanimously by the Senate.

The list of guests to be invited include all House members, members of the Cabinet, the chief justice of the United States and associate justices of the Supreme Court; the Joint Chiefs of Staff, and the commandants of the Marine Corps and Coast Guard.

Invitations to members of the diplomatic corps to take part, the resolution stated, will be tendered by the secretary of state.

Sherman Adams, administrative assistant to Eisenhower, took part in the conference that decided on a state funeral.

Martin said Mrs. Taft and the family had consented to the state funeral and that burial would be at Cincinnati, Taft's home town.

In the midst of their eulogies, many of the Ohio Republican's Senate colleagues had proposed that his body be brought from New York to lie in state in the rotunda of the Capitol.

Those at this morning's conference on funeral arrangements included Sen. Knowland of California, acting Senate Republican leader; Speaker of the House Martin of Massachusetts, and other Senate and House Republican leaders, including Taft's fellow Ohioan, Sen. Bricker.

The same group was to meet later in the day to give approval to detailed plans.

The Senate recessed yesterday in respect to Taft, but the House solemnly continued in session and last night formally adopted a resolution expressing profound sorrow before adjourning out of respect.

Speaker Joseph Martin (R-Mass), authorized to appoint a committee of 30 members to attend the funeral service when arranged, said he will name the group today.

Taft's death yesterday, from cancer, continued to evoke expressions of grief and praise.

The Tafts' Victorian red brick residence in Washington's Georgetown district kept a light burning over the doorway last night. Messengers with telegrams and flowers kept appearing in its glow.

Cars drove up the quiet tree-shaded street, paused and drove on.

Mrs. Taft—survivor of the "Bob and Martha" team which had shared many a year of political campaigning — remained in her upstairs room. Confined to a wheelchair, she had flown to New York earlier this week for a bedside visit with her fatally stricken husband.

Mrs. Darrah Wunder of Cincinnati, an old family friend who began living with the Tafts after Mrs. Taft suffered a partially paralyz-

Congress Sets Record in Cuts On Spending

WASHINGTON (AP)—The expiring first session of the 83rd Congress appropriated 13 billion dollars less than the new money requested by former President Truman in January—a record cut.

In its drive to bring new government obligational authority closer to its prewar levels, Congress trimmed about four billion dollars from the revised money requests of President Eisenhower.

The 13 billions chopped from the Truman requests represents a reduction of about 20 per cent and, if not an all-time record, is a record for modern times. it exceeds by three billions the reduction goal set last January by Chairman Taber (R-NY) of the House Appropriations Committee.

Truman asked Congress for new appropriations of $66,288,000,000 for the fiscal year that started July 1. Eisenhower scaled this down to $57,029,000,000.

Both amounts are exclusive of more than seven billions in permanent appropriations, such as interest on the national debt, over which Congress has little or no control.

Congress decided that the federal government must get along on slightly over 53 billions in new money during the present fiscal year.

For the first time in years, there was little disagreement between the Senate and the House over how much should be provided. This year the Senate added less than one billion to amounts voted by the House, and much of that difference was wiped out when the two chambers compromised.

Only two of the annual money bills haven't cleared through Congress. And they are expected to get final approval today.

LAUSCHE CANCELS TRIP

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)— Gov. Frank J. Lausche has cancelled plans to attend the national governors conference in Seattle next week in order to attend the funeral of Sen. Robert A. Taft.

Won't Upset GOP Control

Lausche Mum on Taft's Successor to Senate Seat

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Political prognostications were a dime a dozen today under the dome of Ohio's Capitol.

Both volunteer and professional observers were free with their forecasts of the effect of the death of Sen. Robert A. Taft on Ohio's political scene.

Although a deep and sincere veil of sadness hung over the Capitol, human curiosity could not be stifled.

The question was on everyone's lips:

"Who will the governor appoint to succeed 'Mr. Republican'?"

There were many half-confident answers. But not even the closest friends of the unpredictable Democratic Gov. Frank J. Lausche professed to be able to forecast his actions accurately.

This much appears to be certain: Lausche does not want to be, under any circumstances, in the position of upsetting Republican control of the U. S. Senate at this early stage of the administration of President Eisenhower.

While Lausche is expected to name a Democrat to succeed Taft, indications were he might exact a promise from the appointee to refrain from voting in any Democratic attempt to reorganize the Senate.

At the moment, it appears Lausche's reported fears his appointee might upset Senate control are groundless. A Democratic appointee by Lausche would give the Democratic party 48 Senate votes —exactly half of the membership.

The Republicans today have only 46 Senate members, but the Republican governor of New Hampshire is expected to name a Republican successor to the late Sen. Tobey, As he did at the outset of the current congressional session, Sen. Wayne Morse, Oregon independent, has indicated he would side with the Republicans in organizational matters.

The combination — 48 Democratic and 48 Republican votes— would throw the final decision to Republican Vice President Richard

Considered Personal Loss

Marionites Join Nation In Mourning Sen. Taft

Marionites today reflected the same feelings of sorrow expressed by other Ohioans and the nation in general over the death of Ohio's Senator Robert A. Taft.

Typical of Marion comment on Sen. Taft's death were these words from Ralph E. Carhart, Marion County Republican party chairman:

"His death is a blow not only to the party but to the nation as a whole. Party workers in Marion County had the opportunity to get pretty close to Taft as a person, for in an ordinary campaign he would visit Marion five or six times, and the more we got to know him, the more we liked him."

Feeling a very personal sense of loss in the senator's death is Dr Frederick C. Smith, Marion physician and former 8th District Congressman, who knew Taft personally. Dr. Smith's comments on the implications of Sen. Taft's death were:

"The nation has undoubtedly lost the greatest man in politics in our national government. Those now in control of our government do not have the understanding of our domestic or world positions that Sen. Taft possessed. He was a great balance wheel in our present scheme of government, and I just doubt if there is anyone in Congress who has the knowledge and understanding to carry this nation through what I believe to be the greatest crisis in its history."

In referring to Gov. Lausche's pending appointment of a replacement for Taft, Dr. Smith said, "I

Special Music Planned

New Epworth Pastor To Lead Union Service

New pastor of Epworth Methodist Church, Rev. Walter C. Eyster, will be the speaker at the union vesper service Sunday night in Marion at the Central Christian Church gardens. A special feature will be an extra half-hour of music by the Epworth Church School orchestra, beginning at 6:30, under direction of George Barnhart.

The summer Sunday evening services for the Marion community are held each year with various congregations co-operating and with the Central Christian Church as the host church. Devotional hour starts at 7.

Leader of the devotions Sunday night will be Rev. L. Harrison Ludwig, pastor of Salem Evangelical and Reformed Church and president of the Marion County Council of Churches.

"These Christians!" will be the subject of the sermon by Rev. Eyster who came to Marion in June from Bowling Green. He has been active in both denominational and interdenominational programs and has taken part in a special preaching mission with youth deputation teams abroad. As Epworth Church's spiritual leader, he is the youngest pastor to have served the congregation in 50 years.

In regard to the union vesper services, he has stated that as a newcomer to Marion he is "happy to find such a service being held." Having attended all of these services since coming here, he said, "I have found in them a rich Christian fellowship. Participation in these services is an evidence we really believe in the Ecumenical Movement here in Marion and in church co-operation. These beautiful church gardens are a wonderful place for such a service."

While pastor at Bowling Green, Rev. Eyster started the Portage Drive-In Theater Sunday morning services which attracted many worshipers. He has an article in the current summer issue of The City Church, a national religious magazine, urging more city churches to hold outdoor services and to "use more available means of bringing the Christian witness."

During the summer of 1948, he preached in many parks, market places, and recreational centers of Norway and Sweden and points out that the "free churches" of Europe, essentially composed of young people, in comparison with the older state churches, are seeing the more informal out-of-doors worship as "one of their great opportunities."

The half hour of music by the orchestra, preceding the vesper service, will carry over into the service, with the instrumentalists assisting B. K. Hill, the song leader, in a song service of old familiar hymns. Organized 40 years ago by Homer Waddell, the orchestra was directed many years by the late William Dowler who trained several "generations" of the church's musicians. Just preceding the sermon, a special number will be a trumpet duet by L. M. Yinger and Mr. Barnhart.

Numbers by the orchestra will be "Black Mask March," "Gibraltar," an overture, "Billy Sunday's Successful Song," "Evening Breezes," a reverie, and a march, "Sinfonia." The trumpet duet will be "Living for Jesus." Ushers will be in charge of Wilfred Schweinfurth.

How Tedious and Tasteless

The director announced the number and the choir turned to "How Tedious and Tasteless the Hours." Some of the younger members grinned. The title didn't make sense. To me, it was No. 153 on a list of hymns I was having recorded for a series of radio programs. To a motherly lady in her 70s, there was a deeper meaning than either a number of a title. At first she smiled gently but when she looked up I saw moisture in her eyes. Then the director motioned for rehearsal.

The life of Capt. John Newton is drama from the day he was launched in 1725 until his hull was scuttled in 1807. Half orphaned at 8, he sailed with his sea captain father. Deserting the British Navy at 18, he was caught, put in irons and flogged in public. Defiant, he escaped and signed on the filthiest craft that ever sailed the seas—a slave ship. At 23, as master of his own rotten slaver, he bought human beings in Africa and sold them to the colonists in America.

Came his chance reading of Thomas Kempis' book, "Imitation of Christ"—then his reflection over his checkered past. Then the storm when he manned the pumps himself with water up to his waist, and the prayers he forgot as soon as the storm was past. The siege of fever that brought him face to face with death and the sermon by John Wesley that brought him to his senses.

AFTER 16 YEARS of self education, the one-time infidel was ordained in the Anglican Church and sent to the town of Olney. But he never gave up his sea garb. Even in the pulpit of London's great St. Mary Woolnoth, where he preached 27 years, Newton wore his old sailor suit with the big brass buttons.

But it was at Olney that the life of John Newton reached its dramatic height. It was there the ex-slave trader preached on Sundays, held prayer meetings on Wednesdays and met with a group of little children every Thursday to tell them stories from the Bible. And it was in Olney that John Newton wrote "Amazing grace! how sweet the sound, That saved a wretch like me!" and 280 other great hymns—including the one below.

After the first rehearsal the young choir members didn't grin any more. During the second, they swayed back and forth with rhythm while the motherly lady patted her foot. Usually eight to 10 rehearsals were needed on each hymn. But after the fourth singing of this one the director nodded and the engineer put it on record. Then one of the young singers turned to the old lady and said, "I'd like to hear that one played back," and the old lady said, "I would too. It was my mother's favorite hymn."

How tedious and tasteless the hours
When Jesus no longer I see!
Sweet prospects, sweet birds, and sweet flowers,
Have all lost their sweetness to me.
The mid-Summer sun shines but dim;
The fields strive in vain to look gay!
But when I am happy with Him,
December's as pleasant as May.

His Name yields the richest perfume,
And sweeter than music His voice;
His presence disperses my gloom,
And makes all within me rejoice:
I should, were He always thus nigh,
Have nothing to wish or to fear;
No mortal so happy as I;
My Summer would last all the year.

Content with beholding His face,
My all to His pleasure resigned,
No changes of season or place
Would make any change in my mind:
While blest with a sense of His love,
A palace a toy would appear;
And prisons would palaces prove,
If Jesus would dwell with me there.

Dear Lord, if indeed I am Thine,
If Thou art my sun and my song,
Say, why do I languish and pine,
And why are my Winters so long?
Oh, drive these dark clouds from my sky;
Thy soul-cheering presence restore;
Or take me unto Thee on high,
Where Winter and clouds are no more.

Power for Living

A Sermonette

By REV. L. HARRISON LUDWIG
Pastor of Salem Evangelical and Reformed Church

"For the love of Christ controls us."—II Corinthians 5:14.

Great living is no mere accident. There are unseen forces at the basis of all great lives. The life is often taken hold of by a power that is beyond itself—beyond its control. The life must be lived under the influence and direction of this power or it will go to pieces.

There is no better example of this kind of living than that found in the Apostle Paul. All that he did was the direct result of the power of Christ in his life. He said: The love of Christ controls us.

Paul did not plan to be a Christian. He had deliberately planned to stamp out the whole Christian movement. He set out to rid the world of fanatics like Stephen. But when he came to Damascus on his mission all was changed. Something happened there that changed him from an enemy into a friend—from a persecutor to an ardent enthusiast for the cause. The love of Christ had followed Paul all of the way to Damascus and had finally gotten control of him.

JESUS WAS VERY personal to Paul. He came to Paul as to a solitary individual. To be sure Paul was in a company of soldiers when Christ appeared, but he tells us that he was the only one who heard the voice. Christ appeared to him personally and alone.

This gives us a clue as to the reason why Paul felt that Christ controlled him in a very personal sort of way. There was no divided attention. Christ came to Paul as one person to another.

This is the clue to all Christian living. We may have our theological theories and differ about them. But this is basically an experience. And this experience is necessary if I am going to live the Christian life. To Paul, Christ was someone real. He had appeared in person, Paul lived with Christ. He talked with Christ. He felt Christ constantly near to him. This is the basis of all Christian living. Let us each make the test. Do I feel Christ has taken full control of my life. The story is told of General Booth of the Salvation Army. On his death-bed one of his friends asked him the secret of his success in life. He answered very simply: "If I have had any power in my life it is because Christ has had all there is of me." There was no divided allegiance there. Christ was very intimate, personal, real. General Booth could follow the example of Paul—he could talk with Christ and of Christ as if Christ were his very own. And, indeed, Christ did belong to him. And Christ can belong to me—and to you.

CHRIST HAD TAKEN hold of the heart of Paul. There is a difference between taking the body of a man and laying hold of his heart and soul. Christ had captured the soul of Paul and controlled it.

Look at this in relation to another person who was close to Jesus—a man named Judas. This man followed Jesus in the flesh. He was very close to Jesus. He heard the teachings of Jesus. He lived with Him. He had opportunity to ask questions, express opinions, enter into the life and spirit of the Master as did all of the Disciples. Judas was with Jesus. But Jesus never did get hold of the soul of Judas. He never captured the real heart of Judas. When the final test came Judas was found doing something wicked and mean and dastardly. The true allegiance of the man was finally revealed. Jesus could get the heart of John, of Peter, of Paul. He never did get the heart of Judas.

There is no really great Christian living except by the person who is controlled by Christ. We can look at ourselves. When we are honest with ourselves we know that we are not doing what we should for the cause of Christ. We know that our lives are poor and incomplete. We know the reasons we give. We have so many other interests; there are so many things that take up our time. We also know that there is just one fundamental answer to this whole problem: We do not do what we know we should; we are not what we know we ought to be because we have not let Christ take control of our lives.

Someone has said "The world has yet to see what will happen when one soul is entirely dedicated to Christ." Entirely dedicated to Christ! The world has seen a few such souls—but altogether too few.

Inside Labor

Anti-Red Underground By Victor Riesel

BONN, GERMANY

Behind the nearest fringes of the Iron Curtain is an anti-Soviet underground force whose leaders await the signal for revolt against the East Germany Volkspolice and the demoralized Russian Secret police.

RIESEL

This underground organization has an almost perfect intelligence system; the most ingenious methods of counter-propaganda and sabotage; a long list of Soviet agents it will kill the moment it gets the chance; and all the money it needs.

Its network stretches far into the interior — into Leipzig, Dresden and other Red occupied communities.

When the Berlin riots broke, veteran anti-Communist labor leaders, who learned their techniques in a now almost forgotten war against the Nazis, suddenly appeared in these interior cities.

-:-

THEY DIRECTED the burning of bookstores as a sign of defiance of the Soviet propaganda machine.

They burned police cars and barracks as a token of contempt for the East German gauleiters of the Soviets.

They assaulted some of these gauleiters and their stoolpigeons.

Then they disappeared into the underground again to wait Der Tag.

Much of the money for this underground comes from a special German union headquarters (the DGB) in Berlin directed by a man called Haas.

There are other outfits feeding the underground — and they work in a loose war coalition against the Russian forces.

-:-

THEY POOL their intelligence information. And every morning at three or five a.m. an announcer gets before the mikes of American sponsored radio station RIAS and calls out the exact names, addresses, cities and daily activities of Soviet agents in the Red zone.

This Paul Revere operation warns the underground in certain cities to be careful of so-and-so.

The man named always turns out to be a Red agent. This neutralizes the Soviets' efforts to spy on the East Germans.

There is for example, the distribution of the tiny tabloid, Die Kleine Tribune. This is the one which runs the Sign of the Snail as an appeal for snail-paced work in East German factories.

Small bundles of this tissue-paper publication are tied to gas filled balloons. When the wind is right the balloons are released.

SOONER or later the little bags deflate. The bundles are recovered by the underground and Die Kleine Tribune is distributed throughout scores of Red factories.

But the underground has a way of getting standard-sized newspapers into the Eastern Zone, too. Couriers from Western Germany pick up hundreds of copies of the Soviet Zone's biggest newspapers—Die Tribune, Der Arbeiter and Die Junge Welt.

Those in West Germany peel off the front and back pages and stuff them with propaganda sheets made up to appear like the regular editions.

These are tied into bundles which are picked up in West Berlin by underground workers. Then they are distributed in East Berlin.

They can thus be read on trams, in restaurants or during lunch hours in shops and factories without danger of being spotted by the secret police.

The anti-Communist worker is simply reading his daily paper — and if the gumshoe approaches, all the worker has to do is close his newspaper and read the regular front and back pages.

THERE IS a way to slip hundreds of these "special editions" into newspaper bundles which are unwittingly picked up by regular newsboys at the Soviet Zone newspaper plants.

Thus the underground actually gets its propaganda and instructions sold on East Berlin streets right under the MVD's nose.

There are other methods of underground warfare — economic sabotage, for example.

Some time ago the anti-Communist "Fighting Group Against Inhumanity" pulled one of its best coups.

This group obtained a list of all the enterprises run in East Germany by an organization called "The H.O." — the official Soviet trade outfit operating all state-owned businesses and stores.

The "Fighting Group Against Inhumanity" got a copy of the H.O.'s letterhead and envelope.

THIS END of the underground then printed thousands of such letterheads and wrote fake letters to all East German state enterprises ordering them to cut prices immediately by 10 per cent.

The order seemed authentic. Prices were cut — and the Red authorities had to approve because they couldn't raise prices again without provoking riots. The Soviets lost millions of marks.

However, coups like this one cost the "Fighting Group" its economic director, Dr. Walter Linse. The Soviets simply sent a kidnapping gang into West Berlin and snatched Linse. He hasn't been seen since.

Thus the war between the underground and the Soviets goes on day after day. Men die so a free world may live.

New Era Dawning? By George Sokolsky

The other night, during the intermission of a Mozart concert, up at Tanglewood in the Berkshires, I could not help remarking that Mozart had performed such wonders by the age of 16. A friend commented that genius comes in cycles and we are outside the cycle.

SOKOLSKY

It was one of those remarks that sticks in one's craw until something is done about it. Is it true that there is a cycle of genius and a cycle of the commonplace?

Let us start with Johann Sebastian Bach and we have "Gott Ist Mein Koenig" in 1707, when he was 22 years old. Fourteen years later, he produced the "Brandenburg Concertos," which, in a way, are the beginning of the modern orchestra.

BACH DIED in 1750, nine years before Haydn produced his First Symphony and 14 years before Mozart wrote his "Sonates pour le Clavecin." Mozart died in 1791; he was alive when Beethoven began to write.

So, we have 120 years, from 1707, when Bach's first composition was written, to 1827, when Beethoven died. In music, this is the golden age of genius.

Apart from Bach, Handel, Haydn, Mozart and Beethoven, this period produced other composers whose works are still being played.

It was an extraordinarily rich period in all fields, in innovation and discovery, in the beginning of modern science.

Isaac Newton published his "Universal Arithmetic" the year that Handel wrote his "Rodrigo"; Leeuwenhoek produced his microscope a year later.

Alexander Pope wrote his "Pastorals" the year that Gusmao made the first ascent in a balloon at Lisbon and the following year Sir Christopher Wren completed the magnificent St. Paul's in London.

WHAT a wonderful time I am having as I go through this period of 120 years!

How envious one can be of such a year as 1734 when Swedenborg published his philosophy; Bach his "Christmas Oratorio;" Montesquieu his "Considerations on the Grandeur and Decadence of the Romans"; Voltaire, his "Lettres Philosophiques."

I look at the year 1764, when Mozart first appeared. The gentle architect, Robert Adam, had completed the beautiful Kenwood Lodge. James Watt invented the first steam engine. Haydn published his "String Quartet, opus 1." Immanuel Kant produced his master - work in esthetics. Voltaire issued his "Dictionnaire Philosophique."

Or I turn to 1827, the year that Beethoven died, the end of this period. In that year, Faraday published his "Chemical Manipulation" and Hallam his "The Constitutional History of England."

TENNYSON issued "Poems by Two Brothers." Turner painted "Ulysses Deriding Polyphemus." Schubert was writing songs and Heine poems. Balzac, Victor Hugo and Stendhal were producing novels.

This is the period of revolution, of the stimulation of the imagination of youth by new ideas, new countries, new developments. The American and French Revolutions stirred the world and Napoleon moved across continents.

Can we draw any conclusions from all this? Does it help us to understand why this period of 120 year is an age of genius?

Does it aid us to understand our own times when on the cultural side of life so little is produced in any country?

PERHAPS the explanation is that our great minds have turned to science, to chemistry and physics and engineering.

Have we become so bogged down in facts and in the business of earning a living that the beauty of life escapes us?

Are we so full of statistics that there is no room for poetry?

And as we ponder these questions, the mind naturally turns to moral equations.

Every noble era has produced a great moralist, a philosopher who has sought to relate the whole of human existence, experience and knowledge to his times. Where is such a person today, in this generation?

-:-

SARTRE, whose Existentialism had a moment of excitement, is already a toy among the intellectuals.

In the Western world, philosophy has become a teaching profession and the moralists are apologists for their times.

Yet, as one moves among the pines of lovely Tanglewood, watching young people in their interminable arguments about music and life, it is impossible not to be sensitive to a great stirring, like the cold wind that precedes an electric storm.

Here is a sampling of the cultured youth of America, from every state, who give their summers to composition and performance and to endless talk.

It may be the dawn of another era of genius.

Robert A. Taft

His countrymen were not prepared for the death of Robert A. Taft, their most respected public figure.

Not only did it happen too quickly but it left them with no replacement.

Sen. Taft was a rallying point for public confidence in government. His flawless integrity had become one of the foundations of this republic.

Millions of Americans with all shades of political beliefs shared the common conviction that Sen. Taft was on the job and would never let them down.

It is a comfort to know that this had been made abundantly clear to him long before his health failed. He knew why he had become the foremost symbol of his party and, more recently, the foremost symbol of representative democracy.

America's chances of survival are better because he proved it is possible to stand up for principles and survive the most ruthless attacks of determined opponents.

Life has been a prouder experience for millions of Americans because he showed how to make the most of the dignity bestowed on man by the power to reason, to weigh evidence and to reach objective judgments.

The prospect for public service in America is brighter because an Ohio senator endured the vilest mischief which could be compounded against him and rose to ever-greater stature on a basis of his devotion to the public welfare.

The United States will get along somehow without this man who had become uniquely important to it by virtue of his intellect, conscience, sense of fairness and courage. But its citizens pray there may be another one like him to serve as a reminder of what representative democracy can be at its best.

A special kind of grief is shared by those who knew Sen. Taft in his role as a devoted husband, proud father and good friend—and who often wished more Americans could share their appreciation of the man behind the name.

They are thinking particularly of Mrs. Taft, whose companionship meant so much to him. They are thinking of his family and its close associations.

They are thinking of those who worked with him—who were bound to him by the strongest ties of personal loyalty because they knew their loyalty was justified. They are thinking of all the people who relied on his judgment and example because they knew him well.

All these have sustained a very great loss of a kind apart from the loss sustained by America.

Considering its extent, we can be sure that Robert A. Taft must have been a man of greater stature than it is likely to be our privilege to see again for a long time to come.

Remember Stalin

The Communist party had its historical beginning 50 years ago, according to the current version of its historians. The anniversary was celebrated in Moscow a few days ago.

Nothing was said about Stalin, who used Communism only as bait for a counter-revolution. Persons coming out of Russia and the satellite countries report that nothing ever is said about Stalin now that he's dead.

Yet, while he was alive, his name was on every tongue. His picture was displayed in every village square. There was endless speculation about his passing thoughts and the significance of his words. A grunt from his mustached mouth was analyzed and appraised as carefully as the old Roman fakers used to analyze and appraise the entrails of dead chickens.

It was all a fraud, as far as his survivors are concerned. Beria was a fraud, too. It's far too early to be having vagrant thoughts about Halloween, but that's what comes to mind whenever the Russians take off one mask and put on another one.

Who will scare us silly next — Malenkov, Zhukov, Molotov, Vasilevsky, Sokolovsky — or do they have someone who hasn't been heard-of yet?

Secretary of Reality

Since one of the jobs of a cabinet member is to share grief with the chief executive, Secretary of Treasury Humphrey doesn't mind any blame he may have to share with President Eisenhower over the national debt limit.

Mr. Humphrey is, in a manner of speaking, the secretary of reality. All heads of the Treasury Department have had the same gritty responsibility of raising the money the government needs to maintain its solvency. Sometimes it has been a catch-as-catch-can process.

At the moment, the government is too well established to need to fall back on the hair-breadth financing which used to add zest to its fiscal adventures. But Secretary Humphrey still is responsible for juggling bonds and notes as they fall due, floating new issues, maintaining reserves and so on.

It is not his job to satisfy politicians or even to satisfy economizers but to satisfy bankers and investors. It is for their peace of mind that the national debt limit is set and adjusted from time to time, not for the happiness of dreamers who would be happiest of all if there were no debt at all.

Witnesses Refuse To Talk Even Under FBI Cloak

"Why don't they let the FBI do it?"

For many months now this has been the outcry from those who have objected to the efforts of congressional committees to ferret out Communists and subversives in America.

For many months, also, many a witness has refused to answer questions asked by a congressional committee and has claimed constitutional immunity on the ground that the information if given might tend to incriminate him.

For many months a controversy has been going on as to whether these same witnesses would cooperate with their own government if they could do so in secret—if they could be spared the publicity.

Obviously to give such information to the FBI would be one means of helping the government and yet not making any headlines or public scandal about the mention of names of persons who might be innocent.

The Senate Internal Security Committee has just received from the FBI an analysis which shows that most of the witnesses refuse to cooperate even with the FBI.

Here is the information furnished by the FBI to the committee:

"A review of 35 cases on individuals who invoked their constitutional privilege against self incrimination when they appeared before congressional investigative committees, reflects the following information:

"1 — Thirty-three of these individuals had some type of identification with the Communist party. Of the remaining two persons one was reported as a Communist sympathizer and the other as one who associated with Communists.

"2 — Of these 35 individuals seven had appeared before a congressional committee on a prior occasion. They proved uncooperative before the committee on each appearance.

"3 — All 35 were interviewed by FBI agents. Twenty-six were interviewed before their appearance before the congressional committee; nine were interviewed subsequent to their congressional appearance.

"4 — Of the 35 interviewed by the Bureau, 28 flatly refused to talk to agents. Of the seven that did talk to agents, 3 denied allegations as to their Communist connections. They were not under oath.

"One refused to deny or affirm Communist party membership and refused to make any statement.

"One denied knowing he was engaged in espionage activity from 1939 to 1945. On a subsequent interview he refused to talk on the grounds of his privilege against self-incrimination.

"One furnised some information about Communism but did not admit Communist party membership. On a subsequent interview he refused to answer any questions.

"One gave seemingly false information regarding his knowledge of a certain individual. On a subsequent interview two years later he refused to talk.

"5 — The 35 uncooperative individuals refused to answer questions not only about their own Communist affiliations but about Communism in general. They refused to cooperate in any way with the congressional committee.

"Ten out of the 35 individuals were called before congressional sessions prior to the outbreak of the Korean War in June, 1950. All 10 were uncooperative. Of these 10, eight were called to testify after the outbreak of the Korean War; they remained uncooperative.

"Three out of the 35 individuals were called before an executive session. They refused to cooperate. Of these 3, two were then called before public sessions; again they refused to cooperate."

It will be observed that the witnesses had a chance to impart their information without testifying under oath.

Such informality aids the FBI without involving a witness in any possibility of perjury charges. Even with such protections most of the witnesses have refused to tell what they knew.

If informers were not accepted by government — indeed, in tax cases Congress has authorized the payment of rewards to citizens who help to detect criminal fraud—the jails would not contain as many convicts as they do.

Many murderers are convicted only as a result of testimony coming from witnesses who have turned "state's evidence." To discourage the acquirement of testimony in that way is to weaken the legal processes through which crime is detected and punished.

Any congressional committee which helps, therefore, the processes of disclosure by interrogating persons who have refused to cooperate with the FBI can assist in exposing conspiracies to overthrow the government of the United States.

Dear Nephew: When it gets too hot to do anything else, I go into my dog-days mood. I sit under the shade of a bush and sip the elixir of life. Occasionally, I take a cool drink, too.

This is what would happen to all of us if we lived in a hot climate. We would become elixir-suppers and never amount to a whoop thereafter. We'd have no more wars and not much of anything else.

All that jug-of-wine-and-thou stuff would take the starch out of us. It takes the starch out of me when I let myself drift into the mood of dog days. I haven't lifted my hand for any worthy endeavor for a week.

Two days I haven't even shaved. I have just sat under my cool bush and pondered the whichness of whatness. Your dear aunt, bless her twinkling toes, looks at me reprovingly as she passes by, purses her lips and hastens on with the air of a woman covering up for the deficiencies of a worthless husband. That's me.

I have been thinking about a book I'd write if I were not lazy and stupid. It would be called my first 15,000 days and would cover roughly the time from my 10th to my 50th birthdays.

In it I would describe the effect of centrifugal force on human personality as life's merry - go-round keeps grinding away year in and year out always in the same direction. This causes the passengers to get lopsided.

They lean and think in one direction. They are dizzy with the endless repetition of the same motions, the same panoramas and the eternal getting back to the same starting point without having been anywhere.

According to my theory, there is only one way to fight this, which is to get off your horse and walk as fast as you can in the direction opposite to that in which the merry-go-round is traveling. This will keep you from getting hopelessly lopsided.

My theory is referred to sometimes as the doctrine of contrary opinion, which has a kind of pseudo-respectability in cracker - barrel philosophy. In psychiatry it is related to the theory of self-assertion as the likeliest means of neutralizing the centrifugal force.

In politics, it would be a first cousin of the loyal opposition which is the key to freedom—a key that never should be allowed to get rusty. Incidentally, it wouldn't even be a distant relation in politics of any of the isms, because nothing is so lopsided as a person who takes up an ism.

This is the kind of stuff I brood about under cool bushes during dog days. I do not apologize for it. Come cooler and more invigorating weather I shall arise and lay about me with blunt and sharp instruments of all descriptions.

Everybody in the North Temperate zone then will take a new lease on the active life. Once more it will be the season when the strong - arm boys love to start wars. It will be the season when football players crush one another's bones and the great horned bazookus leaps about this land, emitting campaign drivel at every bound.

Sometimes I can hardly wait for dog days to be over so all of us can be up and doing again with a heart for any fate and our shirts and chemises no longer sticking to the small of our backs. In the meantime, pull up a cool bush and sip a little elixir. 'Round and 'round we go and where we stop everybody knows. It's what we do before we get thrown off that keeps a philosopher busy.

Regards to all,
Cotton Corners UNCLE GEORGE

Signs Point to Cold War Conference

By Jay G. Hayden

Not the least among factors of uncertainty with respect to the called-for high-level political conference concerning the future of Korea is a strong prospect that an even higher level meeting between Russia and the West embracing all phases of the cold war will get going first.

Whereas three months is allowed to organize the Korean gathering, foreign ministers of the United States, Britain and France have proposed a meeting between themselves and Russia's Molotov "at the end of September"—only two months from now.

Izvestia, the Soviet government newspaper, has said: "The Korean armistice should facilitate reduction of world tension and prepare the ground for solution of other unsolved international problems. This agreement is an important contribution to the cause of peace."

Earlier both the Soviet press and Clement Attlee, leader of the British Labor party, criticized the proposed "Big Four" foreign ministers' meeting as an unwarranted weakening and watering down of Churchill's call for a conference with Russia "on the highest level" among the "smallest number of powers and persons possible."

The latter was construed as meaning a get - together of Churchill, Eisenhower and who ever might head the governments of Russia and France at the moment of the assembly.

The prime motive of the Western foreign ministers was to avoid any parley with Russia until after the September 6 elections in West Germany.

Since then Chancellor Adenauer of West Germany has stepped in with the proposal of a nonaggression pact between the Soviet Union and a Western European defense community including a reunited Germany.

The latter proposal resembles Churchill's suggestion of "reconciling the security of Russia with the freedom and safety of Western Europe" by something along the lines of the Locarno Treaty of 1925, which sought to relieve the antagonism between France and Germany by guaranteeing each of them against attack by the other.

Adenauer's seeming adoption of this Churchill idea no doubt was prompted by the contention of his socialist opposition that Western Germany, before entering into alliance with the West, should dicker directly with Russia for a United Germany free from alliance with anybody.

From all of which it seems apparent that, once the German elections are held—and no matter which side wins—Western Europe is going to be virtually united in pressing for immediate negotiations for peace with Russia and its European satellites.

One of the main differences between the United States and Great Britain has been the opinion of the latter, sparked especially by Churchill, that the entire problem of relations with the Communist nations, West and East, should be considered as one.

Churchill's idea is that Russia is sufficiently alarmed by the prospect of rearmament of West Germany as part of a North Atlantic defense force to be willing both to get out of Germany and to assure peace in the far East in return for abandonment of the NATO conception.

And at least equally with his desire to avert a third war in Europe, Churchill wants to find a basis for peaceful association with Communist China that will preserve what is left of Britain's once highly profitable economic relationship with the Orient.

To the latter end Britain long ago recognized Communist China for itself and urged its admission to the United Nations. Further, Britain has sought some settlement of the Formosan issue that would remove Chiang Kai-shek's America-armed force on Formosa as an ever present threat against the Chinese mainland.

President Eisenhower, on the other hand, proclaimed in his first message to Congress that he was "issuing instructions that the Seventh Fleet no longer be employed to shield Communist China" from attack by the Formosa-based Nationalist Chinese.

This reversed an order by President Truman directing the Seventh Fleet both to prevent attack upon Formosa and to insure that Formosa would not be used as a base for attack upon the Chinese mainland.

This Truman action, before Communist China intervened in the Korean War, no doubt was premised on a hope that it would persuade China that the United States had no aims against her. Instead, secretary Dulles has contended, the Truman neutralization of Formosa assured the Red Chinese that they could safely intervene in Korea.

No doubt the latter question will be threshed out in which ever conference with the Communist overloads (East or West) gets going first.

Threat to Adenauer

By GAULT MACGOWAN

FRANKFORT

West Germany's federal elections early in September — the most critical since the war — may see world-famed Konrad Adenauer lose is key post as chancellor of the Bundesrepublik, not to socialist Erich Ollenauer, leader of the opposition, but to a third man virtually unknown outside Eruope.

He is president of the West German Senate or Bundesrat, Reinhold Maier, a veteran politician of the Weimar Republic who as minister-president of U.S. occupied Wuerttemberg - Baden gained local publicity by frequent quarrels with military government chiefs and commissioners.

Rotund, gray-haired, and bespectacled Maier, who likes to operate in an armchair behind the scenes, sees his chance of supreme power in the fierceness of the conflict between Adenauer and Ollenauer.

If the election results in a stalemate between the two major parties of the right and left Maier hopes to get the chancellorship on a platter by maneuvers in the center with his third power of liberal party delegates, known as the Free Democrats.

The Free Democrats are at present in the Adenauer coalition — but neither Maier nor his party plan to stay trailing along.

Maier is ambitious for poower and though he does not look a subtle man, he has been called "a crafty old fox." He is accused of using the machinery of liberalism to promote his own and party interests.

His record as a standard-bearer of liberalism:

1—Filling his administration in Wurttemberg-Baden with former Nazis — between 60 and 90 per cent according to the department concerned — on the excuse to military government of the day that he could not otherwise find efficient lawyers, educationists, technicians and accountants.

2—Using Communists in his cabinet when it seemed expedient after the war and dropping them when they became too hot.

3—Aided by neo-Nazi and nationalist votes, successfully uniting by referendum the former independent states of Wuerttemberg-Baden under his leadership to give himself equal status with premiers of big states like Bavaria and Hesse. After this operation, he became president of the Senate in Bonn.

4—Acquiescing in the admission to his party of ex-Nazis as candidates for election providing their records were not too black.

5—Making public pronouncements in defiance of the Adenauer policy — though paying lip service to his leadership — that have twice called official reproaches on his head.

Maier has thus marked himself as an expert in the handling of balance-of-power politics between Adenauer on the right and Ollenauer on the left.

Chancellor Adenauers main plank in the elections is his support of the European Defense Community. A Protestant wing, led by former U-boat commander Martin Niemoller, is against him and his party of Christian Democrats.

Ollenauer's opposition is largely Protestant, atheist and often Marxist-socialist. Their strength is their hostility to the EDC party as it is written and their fiery program for the union of East and West Germany.

Der Spiegel, the German news review, sees Maier as the future leader of a liberal and socialist coalition. Besides offering him the chancellorship, the Socialists would have to postpone part of their economic program, including plans for nationalization of various interests.

Mission Achieved

GI beneath that small white cross
In faraway Korea,
You ask, "What was my dying for? . . .
What was I doing here?"
You rate,, kid, with the truly great,
By records well defined:
From Bethlehem to Panmunjom
Few did more for mankind.

II

It seemed a futile, baffling hour. . . .
Then death so far away!
"What purpose was there in this thing?"
I think I hear you say;
But, kid, you stand among the men
Of whom the ages sing:
From Calvary to Porkchop Hill
Few died for greater things.

III

Just mud and rain and snow and ice
And misery it seemed. . . .
A spell of horror in the night
Where hope so seldom gleamed;
But, kid, you shall a symbol be
To all whose ways are true. . . .
The Man who died upon the cross
Walked that same road as you.

IV

Oh, boy, beneath the small white cross
We hear you cry, "What for? . . .
"What stupidness decreed this end?
This was a snafu war!" . . .
But, kid, you died to set men free,
To cut a slave's taut rope,
To strike the shackles from a leg
And bid a world, "Have hope!"

V

Some men get statues in a park,
Some live in verse and song.
Some get a bust in brass or clay
Where dust shall linger long;
But your reward is something fine—
It stirs and purifies—
It is the light of gratitude

Oh, might you roam a field once more,
Your dog "Skip" at your side;
And visit that ol' swimmin' hole
Where memories abide;
And play on hometown hills again
As yesterday you did. . . .
And hear a Voice so few men hear
Say gently, "Well done, kid!"

Poland and Czechoslovakia are members of the four nation "neutral team" to supervise armistice progress in Korea, and the truce document says, "The term neutral nations is used to define those nations whose armed forces have not participated in the hostilities in Korea."—Izatso? Poland and Czechoslovakia stood with Moscow and Pieping in the war against U.N. from the first, blocked every move for peace and were as responsible for the slaughter as any combat unit. If they are neutral then Brooklyn is neutral in a series between the Dodgers and the Giants.

The General Assembly takes over the Korean situation August 17, and it looks like a noisy late summer and early autumn.

Larry Storch, it seems to us, is among the TV comics who would be much better if he didn't try so hard to do so much.

In a recent telecast of "I'll Buy That" one of the items offered was a shop-window mannequin, and the high brass wouldn't allow it on the program until it had been "DRESSED!" (Ya mean the dummies can't have the same privileges as the live women on video screens! ! ! .)

We know a man who has had his TV set equipped with a spigot.

Postmaster General Summerfield on "Meet The Press" gave his views on what he wants to do without once mentioning the blitzed special delivery system. Not a word about restoring the old-time rule calling for a signature from the recipient of a costly special delivery letter and making it possible to find out what happened to a lost letter.

YOUR HOME . . . Today and Tomorrow

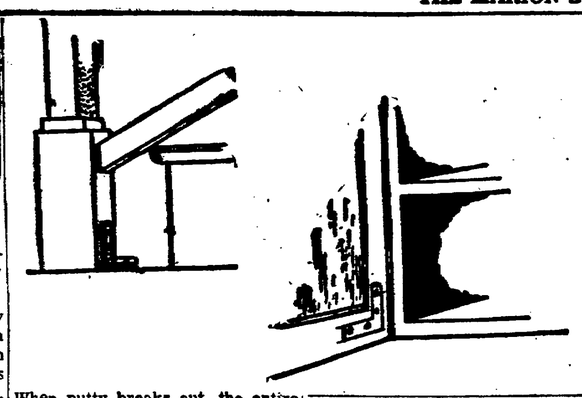
By DOUGLAS TUOMEY

Narrow Molding Replaces Putty

For quite a few years now, large expanses of glass ha been used in even the most modest of houses. The trend toward more light in house interiors has been firmly established. Walls which were formerly solid are now pierced with picture windows and glass panels to carry out the modern feeling. Many breezeways and covered passages between house and garage are glassed with removable panels. Previously they they presented gloomy tunnels.

Along with the use of many panes of glass there comes a maintenance item which has often developed into a real problem. As most glass is set in putty beads, the problem is that of replacing the putty which so easily dries out, cracks and falls away. When this happens the homeowners has the task of replacing it and then repainting it. A comparatively short breezeway will have as many as 60 panes of glass to be taken care of, and an average two-story house will have hundreds of feet of putty around the window panes.

The practical solution to this problem where there are many small panes of glass, lies in the use of narrow, quarter-round or flat wood molding. This is cut in a miter-box so that the ends are nicely mitered and fit snugly.



When putty breaks out, the entire bead should be removed, the frame scraped clean, coated with paint and the molding set in with small wire brads. When this is done there will never again be any trouble with that particular pane of glass, unless of course, it is broken. The difference in appearance between the molding and the putty is practically unnoticeable, and if there should be any, it will be that the molding is neater and cleaner looking.

This suggestion applies well to glassed doors which are subject to much slamming and banging.

James Harold Byers, 46, of Gebhardt St. was given two weeks to clean up the grounds around his residence when he pleaded guilty in Municipal Court to a charge he violated a provision of the Marion City Health Code.

Judge W. Dexter Hazen warned Byers to clean up the refuse within 14 days or face a possible fine and jail term. He was arrested Thursday.

Contests were won by Mr. Patton and Miss Eileen Thomas. Mrs. William Hanning will be hostess for the next WSCS meeting.

Ike's Food Relief Bill Up for Final Approval

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower's program to send surplus food to needy peoples abroad is before the Senate today for final legislative decision.

Dropped from it was a provision to limit the total sent any nation to 20 million dollars.

Aid for the Ailing House

Insulating an Attic Room

Q: We are planning on finishing our attic and converting it into extra rooms. The house has been fully insulated with insulation placed under the attic floor. Will it be necessary for us to remove this insulation before we go ahead with insulating the roof and side walls of the proposed rooms or can I leave it undisturbed?

A: The insulation can be left under the attic floor without any serious consequences, but if it is rremoved from the area of the rooms you intend to construct some heat from the rooms below will then penetrate through the ceiling into the attic rooms. I notice that you intend to insulate the roof above the rooms. It would be better to place the insulation across the ceilings of the new rooms instead of carrying it to the ridgepole of the roof. It is advisable to have air space and ventilation between the roof and the insulating material in the attic.

Electric Wiring in Concrete

Q: I am in the process of installing electric wiring and would like to have the wiring in our basement run through the concrete blocks for the different outlets and switches. My foundation wall is capped with a copper termite shield, through which the wire will run to the concrete blocks.

A: I would not advise cutting through the termite shield because I do not know of any sealer preparation that would be permanently effective and there is always the danger that the wire might move, breaking the seal and destroying the effectiveness of the shield.

Soot on Asbestos Shingles

Q: After my first winter in this house, which is new, I have found oily soot marks on some of the asbestos shingle siding. This was evidently caused by oil burners in our block that needed adjustment. Could you advise a simple method to remove this soot and restore the shingles to their original color?

A: Wet the shingles with clear water and then scrub with one of the new detergent powders using about one-half cupful in each pailful of water. Rinse with clear water.

Cracks in Cupboard Doors

Q: A few of our plywood cupboard doors have developed vertical cracks. Can these be filled with something so that when they are finished with enamel they will present a smooth appearance?

A: You can fill the cracks with lead paste thinned to the consistency of a thick cream. When the filler has become dry and hard, smooth by rubbing with a "000" sandpaper and wipe off the dust.

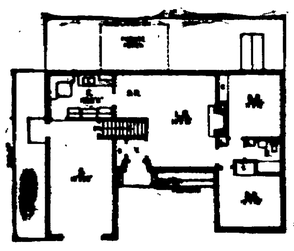
The Rambler



For the owner who wants a U-shaped house this design is ideal. Its low roof line and overhanging eaves give it a ranchy effect and cozy appearance.
When you enter the house your first glimpse is of the lovely fireplace. The combination of the living room and dining room gives this room a very spacious feeling. The living room has a picture window to the front and to the rear, so it should be adaptable to almost any location. Note the lack of unnecessary hall spaces. There is certainly no wasted room in this lovely house.

Important Part of Homes

Air Conditioning Sales Show Large Increase

AIR CONDITIONERS are now on their way toward becoming as important in the modern home as refrigerators and food freezers.

More people are buying and installing one-room air conditioners this year than ever before. The combined output of all manufacturers will exceed half-a-million units this year and more than a million homes will be cooled, or partly cooled by the end of the summer.

The demand is so great that as early as last April manufacturers were running 40 per cent behind orders.

One reason for this popularity of one-room units is price. While it may cost from $1,000 to $3,000 to install a central air conditioning plant to cool an entire house, individual room units can be had from about $200 for the smallest and simplest types to about $500 for one-ton, fully equipped models for large rooms.

TONNAGE CAPACITY is an important thing to know about an air conditioner. It doesn't mean that a one-ton unit weighs a ton. It means that its refrigerating capacity is equal to the cooling rate that would be obtained by melting one ton of ice in 24 hours.

A lot of other details are misunderstood about air conditioners — so much that reputable manufacturers are stressing what you cannot do with an air conditioner as much as they are extolling the advantages of the device.

We asked David E. Feinberg, executive of one of the largest manufacturers (United States Air Conditioning Corp. of Minneapolis) about some of these popular misconceptions.

—:—

"YOU CANNOT simply plug in your air conditioning unit like a lamp or radio," Feinberg said. "To run safely and properly three things are necessary: adequate wiring to handle the electrical load, proper voltage and current for operation (all 1-ton and some ¾-ton units need 220-volt lines) and correct fusing."

The price of a quality unit averages around $370. Installation costs vary in different localities, but rarely exceed $50. The reason installation is required involves not only wiring, but a sealed outlet to the outdoors for warm air exhaust. Room air conditioners do not use water to cool their refrigerants. Air is depended upon.

Most room units are designed for installation on the sill of a standard double-hung window. There are some special units for casement windows, but in either case the window has to be sealed against outside air after the unit is in place.

Some installations have been made by cutting away the wall beneath a window or preferably high on an outside wall.

—:—

OPERATING COSTS hinge on local utility rates. The power consumption of each window unit is between 1,250 and 1,500 watts per ton. You can compare this with the cost of operating other devices —or 15 lights of 100 watts each.

Feinberg translates the tonnage capacity (of U. S. Air units) in terms of room sizes as follows:

"Under average conditions a one third ton unit will cool a room up to 10 by 20 feet. A ½-ton unit will be adequate for a room from 200 to 300 square feet in area. A ¾-ton unit will service a room 300 to 450 square feet. The 1-ton window unit should be selected for rooms of 450 to 600 square feet."

However, this expert warns that because of the many factors other than room size that can influence correct choice, it is wise to consult an air conditioning contractor for the most efficient and economical operation. The use to which a room is put, internal heat load from lights and television, the number of windows, the amount of direct sunlight, even the number of occupants in a room must be figured on.

A unit that is too large can be almost as unsatisfactory as one that is too small.

—:—

ASIDE FROM COOLING, the biggest advantages of air conditioners are that they eliminate as much as 97 per cent of the dust in the air and reduce humidity by some 10 per cent or more. These features appeal to housewives concerned with cleaning bills for drapes and slip covers.

To sufferers from hay fever and asthma, air conditioners are not mere luxuries.

MT. GILEAD—A $20,000 damage action was filed in the Morrow County Common Pleas Court this week against a Marengo business firm.

Irene Hilgenberg of Columbus, filed the action against Norton B. Westbrook of Marengo, doing business as Westbrook Motor Sales.

Mrs. Hilgenberg in her petition states that she was injured at the Westbrook Garage on April 18 of this year. She states that on that date she was a passenger in an automobile that stopped at the Westbrook Garage for gasoline. She says she inquired the location of the ladies' rest room. She opened a door in the rear of the building, she states in her petition, and fell down a flight of stairs to the basement.

No Man in Public Life So Abused as Taft, Says Lausche

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Gov. Frank J. Lausche spoke with tears in his voice of Sen. Robert A. Taft and said:

"In my lifetime no man in public life has been so abused."

The governor made the statement in a private conversation with a state official and part of his staff.

Gov. Lausche recalled that during the 1950 campaign for re-election waged by Sen. Taft in every county in Ohio, the senator was the target for an egg thrown during a visit to a Youngstown industrial plant.

At the time, Lausche was campaigning for his third term as governor. Word of the egg-throwing reached him as he prepared to deliver a set speech elsewhere in the state.

The governor threw away his prepared text and launched into a tirade against such practices. Lausche in many ways has expressed his admiration for Taft, although they were on opposite sides of the political fence.

Marion Soldier Discharged After Second Duty Tour

Sfc. David E. Frew, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Frew of 225 S. Greenwood St, was recently released from active duty at Ft Hayes, Columbus, and transferred to the United States Army Reserve.

Home for a week while being discharged at Columbus, he has rejoined his wife, the former Harriet C. Bretsch of Overland, Mo., in St. Louis and will probably establish his residence there.

Sfc. Frew, who served with the Army Audit Agency in Pittsburgh, Pa., will now serve six years in the Army Reserve.

Sfc. Frew is a graduate of Harding High School in 1942 and of Miami University at Oxford, O., in 1949. He had finished his freshman year at Miami when he was inducted into the service in May of 1943, coming home in June of 1946 and then graduating from Miami three years later.

Sent overseas in January of 1945, he served with a tank battalion in the 3rd Armored Division and was stationed at Munich, Germany, during the occupation.

A member of the Reserves and of an Engineer unit at the Depot here he went back into the service in July of 1950. He was stationed at Ft. Knox, Ky., and then was sent to an Army Finance School in St. Louis. He later was sent to Pittsburgh where he served with the Army Audit Agency.

Sfc. Frew was at one time an accountant with the Omar Bakery here.

GAFFNEY, S. C. (UP) — A man told Sheriff Julian B. Wright recently that his wife was on the warpath and asked if he could be locked up "until things quiet down." Wright obliged. He released the man the next day when the man thought it was safe to go home.

Plans Progress for Fish Fry In New Morrow Fair Building

Special to The Star

MT. GILEAD — The concrete floor for the new Morrow County Junior Fair building has been poured and plans are well under way for a fish fry and square dance to be held there Thursday night, August 6.

Proceeds from the events will go towards the completion of the new exhibition hall. The project of pouring the concrete flooring was done with donations received from businesses, individuals, 4-H and other clubs.

Stage for the building will be located at the end of the building with dressing rooms on either side, and 4-H and other Junior Fair exhibits on each side.

The fish fry will be served from 5:30 p.m. to 9 p.m. with tickets available from any 4-H member in the county. Tickets are $1 for adults and 50 cents for children.

Billy Foster of Delaware and his band will play for round and square dancing. Dancing will run from 9 p.m. to midnight on a dime a dance basis. The floor of the new building was finished for dancing and other activity.

Fred Jones of near Carlington is procuring enough ocean perch fillets for 1,200 people. Among those assisting with the frying will be Pete Larkin, Walter Ruggles, Virgil Denton, Orland Van Sickle, William Sterritt, Bryant Mosher, Francis Kohler, Forrest Porter, Noel Young and Walter Hardesty. Hardesty is chairman of a committee in charge of arranging equipment and personnel for the actual frying operation.

Those attending the fish fry will be served a complete meal through the cooperation of a great many people, including a committee in charge of food and serving under the direction of Mrs. Linn Healea of near Johnsville, and Mrs. Donald Bowen of Mt. Gilead. Food items, with the exception of the fish, are being donated by the county 4-H Clubs and FFA chapters. Tables and seating arrangements will be taken care of by the vocational agricultural instructors of the county.

Immediately after the fish fry and preceeding an all county square dance, a dedication ceremony will be held in the new exhibition hall. The ceremony will include special music, a report of the building committee, given by Howard Clapper, chairman, a short dedictory talk, the presentation of the building to the county commissioners by William Westbrook, president of the Morrow County Junior Fair Board, and the acceptance of the building by the commissioners. The dance following will be supervized by the Morrow County Junior Leadership 4-H Club.

The overall building committee which has functioned for less than six weeks, is composed of Howard Clapper, DeWitte Hunt, Paul Smith, Mrs. Lowell Boger, Howard Lee, Walter Hardesty, Oscar Augenstein, Bill Westbrook and F. W. Dalrymple.

There are more than 1,000,000 telephones in service in each of these nine countries — United States, United Kingdom, Canada, Western Germany, France, Japan, Sweden, Italy, and Australia.

MAN ASKS $200,000.

CINCINNATI (AP)—Gaythor Louis Shaffer, West Portsmouth, asked judgment of $200,000 yesterday against the Norfolk & Western Railway Co. His suit, filed in U. S. District Court, charges Shafer was injured in an accident Feb. 12 while working as a car inspector in the west yard in Portsmouth.

Detroit Man Hurt in One of Seven Mishaps

Route 23 Accident Hospitalizes Driver; One Injured in City

A Detroit man was taken early today to Marion City Hospital for treatment of injuries received in one of three accidents investigated by Marion highway patrolmen.

Jake Alexander, 24, of Detroit, Mich., suffered abrasions of the legs, arms and head when his car skidded on Route 23, two and seven-tenths miles south of Marion, at 2 a.m. The vehicle swerved off the right side of the roadway, went back across to the left side of the highway and overturned in a ditch, crashing into a farm gate and guy wire on a utility pole. The gate was owned by Henry Miller of near Marion, and the pole was the property of the Ohio Edison Co., Marion.

A Boyd ambulance took Alexander to the hospital where he was treated and later released. The car was demolished.

Patrolmen also investigated an accident which occurred at 9:20 p.m. Friday on the Bunker Hill Road, one and a half miles east of Martel, at the New York Central Railroad crossing. A car driven by Robert Hinton, 23, of 161 N. Seffner Ave., skidded around a curve and crashed off the road onto the railroad tracks where the auto stuck. While Hinton went to a nearby farm to see about borrowing a farm tractor to tow the car off the tracks, an NYC freight train hit the stranded vehicle. The car was demolished, patrolmen said.

Farm Wagon Hit

Bernie Litteral, 49, of near Marion, received abrasions and bruises when the farm tractor and wagon he was driving was struck by a tractor and semi-trailer driven by Earl Taylor, 39, of Beaver, O., about 6:12 p.m. Friday. The truck was attempting to pass the farm outfit. Taylor noticed a car following him attempting to pass at the same time and pulled back into the right lane, hitting the left rear of the farm wagon. Litteral was treated by a Marion physician for abrasions of the left side, bruised left leg and shoulder. Two wreckers were used to tow away the outfits which had considerable damage.

A Fostoria man was slightly injured in one of four accidents reported by Marion city police this morning.

The injured man was Charles S. Purdy, 48. He suffered injuries to his back and neck, but did not require hospital attention, according to the police report. He was injured when the car he was driving was struck from behind by a car driven by Wiley Hill, 32, of Detroit, Mich.

Both cars were headed south on N. Main St. this morning at 7:03. Purdy told police he was stopped for a traffic light at the corner of George St. when the accident happened.

Reckless Driving Charge

Hill, who was arrested and charged with reckless operation of his vehicle, reported to police he was going about 25 miles an hour when his car struck Purdy's. Hill posted bond and will appear in court today.

Hill's car was towed away from the scene of the accident. It was damaged in the front end. Purdy was able to drive his car which was damaged in the rear end.

In another accident this morning, the left door and rear fender of a car driven by Paul E. Sifritt, 50, of 199 Reed Ave. were damaged in a collision with a car driven by Edward Fahey of 524 Vernon Heights Blvd.

Sifritt told police he was trying to make a left turn from Mt. Vernon Ave. onto Vernon Heights Blvd. at 6:35 when Fahey's car and his collided. Fahey was reported to have been going from Vernon Heights Blvd. into Mt. Vernon Ave. No damage was reported on Fahey's car.

Mishap On Walnut

Friday afternoon at 3:34, two cars were slightly damaged in an accident in front of 189 E. Walnut St. The left front fender of the car driven by Miss Barbara J. Unger of 793 E. Church St. was damaged in the mishap with a car driven by Roy B. Levien, 60, of near Marion. Levien's car was also damaged in the left front fender.

At 6:55 Thursday evening, a car driven by Clifford L. Young, 21, of 311 E. Fairground St. was damaged in the rear end when struck by a car driven by Robert A. Rollison, 21, of 462 Patterson St. at the intersection of N. State St. and Hazen St.

Rollison told police the car he was driving was owned by Dallas Flowers of the same address. The car was damaged in the front end.

Police also reported one other traffic arrest this morning. Cecil Dallas of Detroit, Mich., was arrested at 2:13 this morning on Hill St. and was charged with reckless operation. He posted bond and will appear in Municipal Court today.

The Baldwin Institute was founded near Cleveland, O., in 1846. It later became known as Baldwin-Wallace College.

Armistice Commission Convenes in Panmunjom

MUNSAN (AP) — The four-nation neutral commission which will police the Korean armistice met at Panmunjom today for the first time and heard the Communists' chief military armistice delegate wish it success.

Meanwhile, the first group of Allied prisoners was reported on its way down the road to freedom and the U. N. Command prepared a full dress reception rehearsal for Monday to speed their homeward journey. The prisoner exchange is scheduled to begin Wednesday at Panmunjom.

The neutral commission officers from Sweden, Switzerland, Poland and Czechoslovakia were introduced and exchanged credentials in a formal meeting at the dusty truce site.

The commission's chief function is to watch for violations of the armistice.

Maj. Gen. Blackshear M. Bryan, the Allies' senior delegate to the U. N.-Red Military Armistice Commission, introduced the Swiss and Swedish representatives. Lt. Gen. Lee Sang Cho, Bryan's counterpart on the commission, introduced the Poles and Czechs. Lee told the officers:

"I hope for the success of the members of the Neutral Nations Supervisory Commission."

The Red Peiping radio said the first Allied prisoners would be "non-Korean" sick and wounded —including Americans and British—from a camp at Pyoktong near the Manchurian border.

The radio said the prisoners were given a farewell "grand feast" before being put on trains for the trip to Panmunjom.

The Reds have said they will return 12,763 Allied captives, 3,313 of them Americans, in the massive exchange. The U. N. will deliver about 74,000 Communist POWs.

Allied POWs will be turned over by the Reds at Panmunjom, and then rushed to Freedom Village at Munsan for processing.

Monday's big practice session, a U. N. spokesman said, will cover every angle from the moment the prisoners leave Communist control until they start home.

Five U. S. Air Force C119 Flying Boxcars airlifted 29 tons of American Red Cross kits to Seoul for use by the returning Allied captives.

Missing Men

With Co. C, 32nd Infantry Regiment of the U. S. Army's 7th Division, Sgt. Morgan was listed as missing after his unit was cut off while fighting alongside the Marines around the Changjin Reservoir in North Korea.

He told his mother in his last letter to her, dated Nov. 3, 1950, that he had been promoted to corporal and that he had been in the Inchon invasion. He must have received a second promotion later, for the Department of Defense listed his rank as sergeant on the official missing in action report.

Sgt. Morgan had a telephone conversation with his mother in April, 1950, and at the time was attending cooks and bakers school. He is believed to have been serving with his unit as a cook when he was reported missing.

Sgt. Morgan, who attended Harding High School, enlisted in the Army on August 7, 1948, at the Marion recruiting station. Receiving his basic training at Ft. Braag, N. C., he sailed for overseas ervice in Japan in November, 1948. His unit sailed for Korea after the outbreak of war there. Mrs. Don Wise of S. State St. is a sister of Sgt. Morgan.

Marengo Soldier on List

Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Terry of near Marengo and formerly of 195 Chicago Ave. are parents of another man who is reported missing in action. Pfc. Paul Earl Terry, a member of the 63rd Field Artillery Battalion near Taejon, was reported missing July 14, 1950.

He was a member of a battery command unit. His parents received a letter from him dated July 4, 1950, telling them he was going to Korea and another one July 11 saying he had been in battle and was well. That was the last word they received from him.

Pfc. Terry had written his mother that he had served with Major General William F. Dean, commander of the 24th Division, who was also reported missing. The day before Pfc. Terry was reported missing, American ground forces were trying to hold the Red army tanks on the Kum River line. The first breach of the Kum line amid severe fighting was reported then.

Enlisting in the Army in February of 1949, he had attended Vernon Junior High School and had been employed at the Marion Steel Building Co. as a laborer. He was sent to Japan in May, 1949, and was graduated from an Army training school there.

Pfc. Terry's mother "hopes and prays he'll turn up."

Pfc. Schroeder Missing Also

Pfc. Guy M. Schroeder, son of Guy R. Schroeder of 701 Bennett St., is another Marion serviceman missing in action. He was missing as of Dec. 2, 1950.

He was in the reservoir area with the Chinese coming into the war when his father last heard from him on Nov. 22, 1950. He was a mortar man and was with the 7th Infantry Division in Korea since September, 1950.

Pfc. Schroeder resided in Marion until World War II, at which time his family moved to Saginaw, Mich., where his mother, Mrs. Edward Klemach, and two sisters now reside.

He re-enlisted in the Army in June, 1950. He served two years with the Army during World War II and spent one year in Germany with the occupation troops. He was employed at Isaly's at one time.

The sister of Pvt. Robert L. Briggs, Mrs. Harold Saunders of 138 St. Clair St., still has hopes he's a prisioner of war.

A photograph of some of the first American soldiers captured in the early days of the Korean War published in Life magazine gives her reason to believe he is alive. One of the prisioners in the picture looks like Briggs, Mrs. Saunders says. The front part of his face and top of his head is visible among the other prisoners.

Briggs, who made his home with his sister for a number of years, was reported missing in action as of August 21, 1950. Serving with the Seventh Cavalry, 24th Division, the last letter received from him August 15 said he was in the thick of the fighting. Pvt. Briggs would have celebrated his nineteenth birthday two days after he was listed as missing.

He is the son of Rev. and Mrs. William Briggs of Obetz, southwest of Columbus, former residents of Marion. Rev. Briggs is pastor of a church in Washington C. H.

Entered Service Here

Pvt. Briggs entered the service here in November of 1949 and received his training at Ft. Knox, Ky., going overseas shortly after. He was stationed in Japan prior to being transferred to Korea the first part of August. Before entering the service, he was employed at Roecker's Bakery.

A Prospect couple, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Plotner, formerly of Marion, have more hope that their son reported missing in action since July 11, 1950, is alive following a note received recently from re-patriated Kentucky soldier.

The note said their boy, Pfc. Gerald R. Plotner, was a prisoner of war with him at a camp and that he was fine.

Pfc. Plotner was serving with Co. L, 21st Infantry, 24th Division, and his parents last heard from him in a letter dated June 18. In it, he told them he was going to Korea from Japan where he was stationed. They believe he was serving under General Dean.

He enlisted in the Army here on Jan. 17, 1949 and received his basic training at Ft. Knox, Ky. He had been overseas a year and was stationed in Tokyo, Japan, prior to being transferred to Korea when the war began. He was engaged in farm work for Harry Beaver near Green Camp before entering the service.

Editor's note: The exchange of war prisoners in Korea is scheduled to begin the night of Tuesday, Aug. 4, U. S. time.

The Associated Press intends to carry as quickly as possible the names, address and all other available pertinent data on every American prisoner who is released. Interviews will be undertaken with as many as possible.

$150 Loss Results In Marion Fire

Fire Chief O. A. Sifritt estimated a $150-$200 loss in a fire at the residence of Mrs. Della Wyrick, 153 Campbell St., which occurred at 1:50 a.m. Friday.

The fire which was confirmed to the upstairs wall of the house, between the siding and the paste, was started by flames from a blow torch being used to remove old paint from the outside of the building. The flames apparently went through an opening in the siding, Chief Sifritt said, and set fire to the wall. Firemen opened the inside wall and extinguished the flames. Engines from the Central station answered the call.

At 1:10 p.m. Friday, Fire Chief Siftirr and Captain J. E. Cornely of the city police department were called to the Harold Walker residence, 222 S. State St., to investigate a minor fire which had burned itself out. A carton of rubbish sitting inside one part of the double garage had evidently caught afire during the night and scorched a partition of the garage. The call was made by Glen Cornelius, who rents the other half of the garage.

IKE BAIT

CONCORD, N. Y. —As a hint that President Eisenhower would do well to establish a "Summer White House" in the state, New Hampshire oficials sent him a landlocked salmon weighing seven pounds and a world's record golden trout nearly 11 pounds. They also reminded him that the state has 60 golf courses.

Kenton Council Will Consider Gas Rate Boost

Special to The Star

KENTON — Kenton City Council will study a proposed eight per cent gas rate increase at the regular Monday night meeting.

The proposal which would raise gas rates about eight per cent above the present first interim increase, would give the West Ohio Gas Co. an annual revenue increase of about $264,427.

Attending a meeting in Lima City Council chambers Thursday night were Kenton's Mayor Lester Wilhoit, City Solicitor Alfred F. Brindley and City Councilmen Roy Spencer and William Breidenbach along, with representatives from St. Marys and Wapakoneta, who met to hear an explanation of the proposal from John W. King, Columbus attorney. Lima has already approved the rate increase settlement.

According to the proposed agreement the company would withdraw its application for a second interim rate boost and its application for a a permanent increase, now pending before the PUCO.

If the cities approve the settlement, an order approving the new rates will be filed by the Public Utilities Commission allowing the company to start charging the new rates on bills of Aug. 1 and thereafter.

Truck Driver Still On Critical List; Other Man 'Fair'

Conditions of the two drivers involved in a truck-auto collision on Wednesday afternoon at the intersection of Marion County Roads 174 and 195, north of Marion Municipal Airport, in which one Marion man was killed, are described as "poor" and "fair" at Marion City Hospital.

Melvin Bell, 27, of 265 S. Main St., driver of the car in which Jacob Eugene Jenner, 26, of 124 Wallace St., was killed, is in "fair" condition, hospital attaches said.

Driver of the dump truck, Marion L. Stalter, 28, of Upper Sandusky, remains in "poor" condition today. Stalter suffered lacerated wrists, possible head injury, abrasions and severe shock in the accident.

The collision occurred at the intersection of the two county roads, where there are no stop signs, when the front of the northbound Bell car hit the right rear end of the eastbound truck, causing the truck to overturn several times on the road.

Funeral services were held this morning at St. Mary Church for Jenner, who died of a fractured skull and brain concussion. Burial was at St. Mary Cemetery.

Lausche

M. Nixon, thus assuring GOP control in both houses.

Some high Republicans, reportedly led by Sen. John W. Bricker are anxious for a change in Ohio law which now gives Lausche the right to choose a successor. It would require a special election to name Taft's successor within 120 days.

Under present law, whoever Lausche appoints to the vacancy caused by Taft's death will serve until after the 1954 election. Whoever is elected in 1954 will serve the last two years of the term.

There was considerable enthusiasm yesterday in the Legislature for the proposal. But, as the day wore on, a number of Republicans confided to newsmen they felt a GOP move to change the law to fit the present situation would be inadvisable.

The consensus seemed to be along this line: "It would be dirty pool to change the rules in the middle of the game. The present situation is an act of God. Let's let it go at that."

The first proposal, advanced yesterday morning within an hour of Taft's death, was for both a special primary and a special general election for senator.

Later, a compromise offered by Sen. Carl D. Sheppard (R-Summit) provided only for a special general election to pick a new senator. The candidates would be selected by the state central committees of the two parties. That action would replace the proposed special primary.

Two Youths Admit Automobile Theft

Two Marion boys were in the juvenile detention home today after they admitted they had stolen a car from a filling station at Main and Fairground St. Thursday night. The boys, aged 16 and 15, told police they had taken the car from the station ta go on a joy ride and had been involved in an accident near Bucyrus.

The boys then brought the car back to the filling station. The car was reported stolen by the owner, Pearl Leedom of Kenton at 7:17 Friday morning. He said the car had been stolen Thursday night and returned to its former location. He said the auto was damaged during the night.

Farm Groomed for Field Day

Conservation Practices Will Be Shown Tuesday

The Donald Williams farm is being groomed this week in preparation for the sixth annual Conservation Field Day which will be held there Tuesday.

The farm is located on County Road 26 about a mile and one-half southwest of Morral. Farmers who attended the field day at the same farm in 1949 will have an opportunity this year to see the results of some of the soil conservation work which has taken place in the last four years.

Williams, who has been working with conservation officials for six years is still not finished with all the plans which were worked out for his farm with the help of government men.

W. L. Williams, head of the U.S. Soil Conservation Service, says the Williams farm is typical of the plan which the department tries to follow. The conservation ideas are put into effect at the same time that the farm is earning money for its owner.

At the Williams farm Tuesday, the visitors will be able to see the results of a thorough conservation plan. They will see the practice of strip and contour plowing and planting in action and will be able to judge for themselves the value and importance of the method.

Waterway Will Be Shown

Besides that, they will see a waterway being constructed in one of the fields. They will also have an opportunity to view some of the other new methods of conservation which have been put into operation on this farm, such as the multiflora fence which encloses some of the fields.

This fence is a heavy bush which in June bears many white flowers. It takes about five years to grow to maturity, at the end of which time it is as effective for keeping livestock off the field as the less artistic wire fences.

In addition, the bushes provide an excellent cover for wildlife. The soil conservation department works closely with the wildlife conservation bureau in trying to preserve not only the land, but also the animals which inhabit the land. The tendency in the last few years is for farmers to allow their fencerows to grow up and so provide cover for the wildlife.

Another feature of the tour Tuesday will be the inspection of the trench silo Williams has built on his farm. This consists of a ditch about 15 feet wide and six feet deep. It is used for storing grass and hay. The advantage of this new method is the saving of the cost of building a steel silo for storage. While there is a little more loss to the product being stored through moisture seepage, this is far outweighed by the saving of construction costs.

Educational Program

W. L. Williams points out that the field day is mainly an educational program, designed to interest the farmers in the methods of conservation. The purpose of the day is to get those farmers who have not followed conservation practices in the past to come to appreciate the value of these methods and take steps to initiate them on their own farms.

There is no charge for admission to the farm. A wagon will take the visitors to various spots on the farm to see and hear the demonstrations being given. A group of men from the conservation offices here and in Columbus will be on hand to explain the ideas behind the methods used and to answer any questions which the visitors might have to ask.

Anyone interested in becoming a cooperator, as the farmers who work with conservation department are called, will be asked to contact the office here in Marion. The conservation office will then work with the farmer in formulating a plan for the improvement and saving of his soil.

No money passes hands in the soil conservation program. Each cooperator signs an agreement with the conservation department to follow out the plans and suggestions which will help in the program. The farmers supply all their own labor and material. The conservation office supplies the technical help which may be needed.

Map Made of Farm

In case the farmer needs help in carrying out the program, conservation officers try to go out to the farm to give advice. An air map of the farm is made showing the land types and different features of the surface. This is then used to prepare a full-scale plan of operation.

There is no compulsion on the part of the farmer to follow the program. It is a voluntary enterprise. As Williams said, the conservation people are here to give help. No pressure is applied to anyone to join the plan.

A plowing contest which had been a feature of the early field days has been abandoned this year. Williams explains that the demonstration of the conservation methods will be enough to keep the visitors occupied during the afternoon. The farm will be open for visitors from 1 to 5 p.m. on Tuesday. A refreshment stand will be set up for the convenience of the visitors by the Morral Methodist Church.

have enough confidence in Gov. Lausche that he will do his best to appoint a man who will come as near to being the type of man Taft was as is humanly possible."

Another Marion man who knew Sen. Taft on a personal footing is Marion Hinklin, Marion County Republican party chairman at the time Taft was campaigning for nomination to the Republican candidacy for president. Hinklin, who served as Taft's campaign manager in the county since 1936, had this to say about Taft's death:

"It's all been said, I'm sure, and I feel like the rest of them. During my long personal association with him as his Marion County campaign manager, I know it has been a pleasure to work with him. He was always sincere and appreciative of everything anyone ever did for him. After each visit to Marion, he would write a personal thank-you letter to everyone who helped him in any way. He was alway concerned that he might overlook someone. He really can't be replaced."

Flags at Half-mast

H. E. Webster, executive secretary of the Marion Chamber of Commerce, reported that many business and industrial organizations were joining federal buildings in Marion in flying their flags at half-mast in respect to the senator. Mr. Webster, who met and talked with Sen. Taft during local visits and in Washington early this year, said:

"I am a great admirer of Sen. Taft, and I believe the nation has suffered a very severe and serious loss. We are going to miss him. Personally, I considered him one of the finest persons in national life."

ing stroke in mid-1950, answered the door and the telephone.

Among the early callers were the President and Mrs. Eisenhower. The Eisenhowers visited with Mrs. Taft for about 10 minutes. The President left a letter.

In a public statement, Eisenhower had said:

"The American people have lost a truly great citizen and I have lost a wise counselor and a valued friend."

This came from the man Taft had fought bitterly last year for the Republican presidential nomination, then had pitched in to help discharge the White House responsibilities he himself had sought for so long.

More than any other thing, the 63-year-old Ohioan had wanted to follow the footsteps of his father, William Howard Taft, into the White House.

But with their differences buried for the sake of national and party unity, Taft and Eisenhower pulled together. By degrees there grew up a mutual respect, a golf course camaraderie and finally a warm friendship.

Taft's judgment in congressional timing and his peacemaking ability were accounted a tremendous asset for Eisenhower administration attempts to put through its program at its first legislative session.

Porterfield Blanks Chisox on 3 Hits; Yanks Win

Loss Drops Chicago 5½ Games Behind Leaders

By BEN PHLEGAR
AP Sports Writer

If Paul Richards still hopes to have pennant aspirations when he hits New York next weekend he better set up a base hit ration system for his "feast or famine" Chicago White Sox.

On Thursday the second place Sox broke out with this biggest barrage of the year—21 safeties that produced 17 runs at Boston. But last night at Washington the Sox managed only three hits off Bob Porterfield and got beat, 2-0.

The loss cost them a full game in the flag chase since the New York Yankees smothered St. Louis as expected, 11-5. Chicago now trails by 5½ games.

A shutout was in the books in Washington since the league's two most prolific shutout pitchers were facing each other. Virgil (Fire) Trucks, winner of eight straight since joining Chicago in mid-June, had pitched five scoreless games. So had Porterfield.

The Senators made certain in the first inning that they weren't the ones who were going to get whitewashed. Jackie Jensen drove in one run with a double and scored the second on Jim Busby's single. Porterfield never gave the White Sox a chance. Only two men got as far as second and at one he retired 15 in order.

Seven of New York's runs against St. Louis were unearned as the bumbling Brownies committed four errors. Yogi Berra drove in three runs with a triple. Irv Noren drove in two more with another triple.

Ralph Branca, the pitcher no club in the National League could use, won his second game for the Detroit Tigers, beating Boston, 5-3. The loss dropped the fourth-place Red Sox 10½ games behind New York.

Brooklyn finally broke its west-of-the-Mississippi jinx with a 2-1 squeaker over the Cardinals in St. Louis. It was the Dodgers's first triumph in six tries in the Cards' home park this season. Carl Erskine posted his sixth victory of the month.

By winning the Dodgers ran their National League lead to eight games over the Milwaukee Braves who bowed 5-1 to Robin Roberts in the first game of a twilight-night doubleheader. The second game, a scoreless pitching duel between Bob miller and Max Surkont, was halted in the top of the 11th inning because of rain.

Roberts gave up just four hits in winning his 18th game, four more than any other pitcher in the majors. Del Ennis and Stan Lopata homered for the Phils.

After losing 22 of their last 26 games the Pittsburgh Pirates had the pleasure of meeting Chicago yesterday and they promptly whipped the Cubs, 4-0, on Murry Dickson's 8-hit pitching.

Jansen Tames Cincinnati for Fifth Time, 9-2

CINCINNATI (AP) — Maybe last night's game wasn't necessary. Perhaps Cincinnati would have conceded it to New York beforehand if the Giants assured the Redlegs they planned to pitch Larry Jansen.

Jansen went out to the mound, went through the motions and gained credit for his 10th victory against seven defeats, this time by a 9-2 score.

Five of Jansen's triumphs this year have been over the Redlegs and his lifetime record against Cincinnati is 24 victories, 3 defeats.

The Rhinelanders got 12 hits off Jansen, only one less than starter Bud Podbielan and relief pitcher Joe Nuxhall allowed the Giants, but Hobie Landrith's homer with one on in the fourth was the only one that did any damage.

New York started an early honeymoon with Podbielan's fast ball. Al Dark hit his 11th homer and Don Mueller doubled in a run in the first inning.

Podbielan didn't last through the third as the Giants clipped him for three more runs on three singles and another double by Mueller.

The New Yorkers piled four more runs into the fifth inning, the big hits being Hank Thompson's 20th home run over the rightfield screen and Sam Calderone's three-run double.

Women Meet For Title in 36-Hole Finals

CINCINNATI (AP)—A couple of schoolma'ams met today for the 53rd women's Western Amateur golf championship.

Battling over Camargo Country Club's hill-and-dale 6,523-yard par 75 course in the 36-hole title match were Claire Doran of Cleveland, a junior high instructor, and Jane Nelson of Indianapolis a grade school teacher.

Miss Doran ousted Pat Devany, of Grosse Ile, Mich., 4 and 3 in yesterday's semi-finals.

Miss Nelson was a one-up victor over Mae Murray of Rutland, Vt., who reached the finals of the 1950 tournament.

The Cleveland star, who has won Ohio's championship the last two years, was runner-up in the 1951 USGA Amateur and a member of the 1952 Curtis Cup team. Miss Nelson won the Indiana title in 1951, is the present Indianapolis champion, and is making her second appearance in the Western.

Cameras Record Randall Action

CLEVELAND (AP) — Cameramen at Randall Park's running race meet are recording not only photo finishes, but photo starts and movies of the entire progress of each race in the daily program.

The $25,000 project in which 2,500 feet of film are used daily in long range and closeup action shots is intended to do three things:

1. Make jockeys aware any rules violations will be spotted in the film and thus prevent unsportsmanly conduct.
2. Enable stewards to check within five minutes after a race on the validity of any foul claims.
3. Instruct the jockeys by showing the films to them and trainers with commentary by stewards.

Although the ouzel, or dipper bird, likes seclusion, it is not shy around people.

Recall Deadline Passes

Yanks, Cards and Chisox Move To Gain Strength

NEW YORK (AP)—The deadline for the majors' new minor league option recall rule passed at midnight last night with clubs dipping into their farm systems during the final hours for additional strength.

The rule forbids a major league club to recall from the minors after midnight July 31 any player out on option. It does not, however, prevent a major league club from purchasing a minor league player at any time.

The New York Yankees got under the wire by a few hours with the biggest deal. They called up four players, including one of the top pitchers in the Class A Eastern League.

Recalled on option were Bill Miller, left handed pitcher from Kansas City in the American Association and shortstop Jim Brideweser from Syracuse of the International League.

The world champions also purchased Gus Triandos, 225-pound catcher-first baseman, from their Birmingham farm in the Southern Association and southpaw pitcher Steve Kraly from Binghamton in the Eastern circuit.

To make room for Miller and Brideweser, both of whom had been up with the Yanks the New York club asked for waivers on catcher Ralph Houk and veteran pitcher Ray Scarborough.

Twenty-four hours earlier the St. Louis Cardinals brought up outfielder Harry Elliott from their Houston farm in the Texas League and recalled pitcher Willard Schmidt from Columbus in the American Association to handle relief work.

The Chicago White Sox sought to strengthen their pennant hopes by recalling Clifford Johnson, a pitcher with a 6-5 record for Charleston in the American Association, and outfielder-first baseman Bob Boyd from Toronto.

Today's Birthday

LLOYD MANGRUM, born Aug. 1, 1914, in Dallas, Tex. Professional golfer, he has been called the biggest money maker in the game. Mangrum Tops Golf Field in All-American

CHICAGO (AP)—The home prospector, Lloyd Mangrum, today celebrated his 39th birthday as top man at the halfway mark of Tam O'Shanter's "warm-up" gold rush, the $25,000 All-American pro golf tourney.

Mangrum, one of the snappiest looking grandfathers in any line of endeavor, carried a one-stroke lead into the third round of the quest for the All-American's prime $3,420 prize with a seven-under-par 137.

Mangrum's 68 yesterday nudged him a single stroke ahead of four good journeymen, Ed (Porky) Oliver, Dave Douglas, Ed Furgol and Jimmy Clark.

Five players, including first-round leader, Marty Furgol, were bracketed at 139 and three strokes off the pace at 140, was another quintet, including the redoubtable Sammy Snead and 1953 PGA champion, Walter Burkemo.

The others knotted at 139 were Pete Cooper, Lawson Little, Bob Toski and Ted Kroll, like Mangrum, a Purple Heart veteran of World War II.

In other games, Kansas City beat Columbus 9-5 and Minneapolis beat Indianapolis 5-4.

Toledo's victory completed a sweep of the Sox's five-game series with St. Paul and big Gene Conley recorded his 16th victory in pitching the distance on an eight-hit allotment.

Builders, VFW Post Wins in Pony League

VFW, first round Pony League champions, continued on its winning ways with a 5-4 nine-inning win over Alloy Cast Steel after G & G Builders tripped Clark Metal Products, 8-3, in the Pony League action Friday night at Lincoln Park.

Alloy played the game under protest. The manager said a fly ball which his shortstop dropped should have been an automatic infield out in the top of the fifth inning.

VFW scored twice in the first on one hit and once in the second without the aid of a hit, and then had to score in the ninth for the win.

Dan Shoemaker, who walked, and Larry Coy, who doubled, later scored on wild pitches to give VFW a 2-0 first inning lead. Marion Delaney also scored on a wild pitch in the second after walking.

The losers scored their first tally in the third and then came up with two more runs in the fifth to tie the score at 3-3. Armbruster came in on a wild pitch for the first Alloy run and in the fifth, Armbruster, who reached base on a fielder's choice, and Ambrose, who was safe at first on an error, later scored. There were no hits in the inning but four bases on balls.

Both teams scored once in the seventh and the game went into overtime. Singles by Burnside and Armbruster helped Alloy bring in a run while Harry Jones tripled and stole home for the VFW run. Then in the ninth, Wilson walked and later scored on a wild pitch for the winning run.

Coy started on the hill for the winners and was relieved by Dave Gallimore in the fifth. Jones took over in the seventh. Those pitchers were responsible for 18 strikeouts. They surrendered five hits. Barrett was Alloy's starting pitcher. He was relieved by Ambrose in the sixth and Harris came on in the eighth frame. VFW banged out but four hits off their offerings, and 13 of them were strikeout victims. Townsend had two hits for Alloy.

G & G Builders, held to but three hits by Clark Metal Products, scored four times in the second and three times in the third to offset a three-run Clark rally in the third for its 8-3 win.

The winners came up with four runs on one hit in its half of the second and sealed the win with three more runs, on no hits, in the next inning.

Bob Lister hurled all the way for G & G, giving up four hits and fanning seven. Burns started for Clark, was relieved by Klingel in the third and he gave way to Kurz in the sixth. They were credited with nine strike outs.

Hart had two hits for Clark and Claypool two for the winners.

Games on tap tonight, starting at 6:15, are Clark against Alloy and G & G versus VFW.

Rice Hardware Girls Win Over Zanesfield

The Rice Hardware girls' softball team romped over Zanesfield, 15-7, Friday night at the losers diamond. The Waldo team will meet Scotty's of Mansfield tonight at 7:30 at Garfield Park.

The winners banged out 10 hits and were aided by seven errors by the losers in Friday night's tilt. Helen Mochel and Davena Oswald shared the pitching for Waldo. Betty Ginder was the catcher. Roberta Roberts belted a home run in the seventh inning.

Simpson Returns

Westlake Pounds Out 5 Hits To Lead Indians

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—The terrific hitting of veteran Wally Westlake and the return of outfielder Harry Simpson gave a note of encouragement today to the sagging Cleveland Indians.

Westlake's big bat, however, took much of the edge off Simpson's reunion with his teammates after a three-week layoff due to a sprained sacroiliac.

The 32-year-old Westlake drove out a home run and four singles in five trips to the plate last night as the Indians swamped the Philadelphia Athletics 12-6.

Almost a forgotten man until used as an emergency replacement last weekend, he now has hit safely 14 times in his last 17 appearances, raising his batting average to .369.

Bob Feller (5-5) goes to the mound for Cleveland in the second game of the four-game series today, opposing Charley Bishop (3-7)

Other leaders in the Tribe's victory last night were Al Rosen, who had a triple, double and single, and Owen Friend, who smacked a three-run homer. In all, the Tribe made 16 hits of Harry Byrd, the loser, and three other Philly hurlers.

Dave Hoskins, who relieved starter Art Houtteman after he had given up 10 hits and five runs in 4⅓ innings, was the winner.

Friend played for Bobby Avila who pulled a muscle in his left thigh and will be out for a few days.

Browns Plan Fight Against Kissell Shift

OTTAWA (AP) — The Cleveland Browns through their lawyer have asked for an Ontario Supreme Court injunction to restrain John Kissell, 250-pound lineman, from playing football with the Ottawa Rough Riders.

W. G. Burke-Robertson, lawyer representing the club, said the writ of summons seeking the injunction was issued yesterday.

Kissell allegedly signed contracts with both the Browns and the Ottawa football club.

Jim McCaffrey, president of the Ottawa club, said "We'll fight to the limit to retain Kissell. He wants to play here and he'll play here unless the courts rule otherwise. The club will protect Kissell in every way."

Sterling Newell Jr., lawyer and acting secretary of the Browns said: "Kissell is our property. We renewed our option within the appointed time and he signed the contract. We'll go to court to see that Kissell honors the contract."

PREVIEWS OF COMING ATTRACTIONS AT THE THEATERS

BURT LANCASTER and VIRGINIA MAYO are shown above in a scene from the comedy-adventure film, "South Sea Woman," a first-run attraction playing Wednesday through Saturday at the North Drive-In Theater.

'Let's Do It Again' To Be Shown at Ohio

"Let's Do It Again," a musical in technicolor starring Jane Wyman, Ray Milland and Aldo Ray, and "The Last Posse" with Broderick Crawford, John Derek, Charles Bickford and Wanda Hendrix, will be a double feature billing for Sunday through Wednesday at the Ohio Theater.

In the former, Jane Wyman plays a former Broadway singer whose uneasy marital relationship is put into a state of crisis when Ray Milland, her husband with a roving eye, roams once too often in the pretty direction of Valerie Bettis, a night club dancer.

In the latter, Crawford portrays a once fabulous sheriff whose reputation has become tarnished with years of drinking. But, he undertakes his toughest fight with a posse hunting three fugitives in the vastness of the Southwest.

Starting Thursday will be an historical adventure filmed in three-dimension, "The Charge At Feather River." The stars are Guy Madison and Frank Lovejoy.

It is a tale from the history of the growth of the country and relates the story of a small band of hardy American cavalrymen who turned back the tide of an Indian uprising at Beecher's Island in Colorado in 1869. The two stars, as leaders of the remnants of a lonely western outpost, face the charge of the Cheyennes at the banks of Feather River.

'Shane,' Starring Ladd, Van Heflin at Palace

"Shane," a technicolor western starring Alan Ladd, Van Heflin and Jean Arthur, with Jack Palance and Brandon De Wilde, currently is playing through Wednesday at the Palace Theater.

The story recounts a fierce struggle between courageous homesteaders and the equally courageous cattlemen who, right or wrong, resented the newcomers.

"Shane" dramatically takes up both points and then proceeds to settle the issue. Alan Ladd is seen in the role of Shane, a fast-shooting stranger who befriends the homesteaders, while Van Heflin and Jean Arthur are a farm couple.

Thursday only, on the stage of the theater, the Hamilton Dance School will present a revue.

Billed for Friday and Saturday is a double feature, "Tarzan and the She-Devil," starring Lex Barker and Joyce MacKenzie, and "Below the Sahara," a technicolor film record of the Armand Denis African Expedition.

In the adventure, Tarzan becomes involved with a gang of ivory thieves operating in East Africa. Their leader is a beautiful adventuress who conceives the idea of forcing the jungle lord to use his famous jungle call to help round up a fabulously large herd of ivory-tusked elephants in a territory untouched by hunters.

"Below the Sahara," is a true adventure story of Armand Denis and his pretty blonde wife, Michaela, as they brave danger with a camera instead of guns on an 18-month long safari into seldom visited places.

Martin and Lewis Star In State Theater Film

"Jumping Jacks" starring Dean Martin and Jerry Lewis, and "Texas Stampede" with Charles Starrett and Smiley Burnette, will be shown Sunday and Monday at the State Theater.

Billed for Tuesday and Wednesday are "Father Takes the Air" and "Billy The Kid Smoking Guns." The former stars Raymond Walburn and Walter Catlett, and heading the cast in the latter is Buster Crabbe.

Esther Williams and Victor Mature are the stars of the film, "Million Dollar Mermaid," which will be the main attraction of the double feature playing Thursday and Friday. Completing the billing will be "Mountain Rhythm" starring The Weavers and Lynne Merrick.

Saturday only, the attractions will be "Here Come The Co-Eds" starring Abbott and Costello, and "Gallant Legion" with William Elliott and Catherine McLeod.

'South Sea Woman' Coming to Drive-In

"Jumping Jacks," Dean Martin and Jerry Lewis comedy, will be shown Sunday through Tuesday at the North Drive-In Theater.

The two comedians play a pair of paratroop rookies who have their base jumping with laughter at their attempts to qualify as rugged airborne soldiers.

A first-run attraction playing Wednesday through Saturday will be "South Sea Woman," an adventure comedy set in the South Pacific. It stars Burt Lancaster and Virginia Mayo.

"South Sea Woman" tells the story of two Marines and a beautiful blonde who are marooned at the outbreak of the war on a tropical island. Lancaster, whose sense of duty to his country is strong, becomes involved in a number of romantic adventures. On the island, the two Marines fight each other for the affection of the showgirl and then fight together against the traitorous Vichy French who inhabit the island.

South Drive-In Theater Bills 'Flaming Feather'

"Flaming Feather," an adventure drama starring Sterling Hayden, Forrest Tucker and Arleen Whelan, will be shown Sunday and Monday at the South Drive-In Theater.

The story centers around a band of murderous Indians led by a white man known only as the Sidewinder. The action involves

At every auction I have seen dozens of people before me who just "dropped by" without any idea of bidding or buying. Then something is put up for sale. I give the buyers a quick report of its usefulness, and before you can say "Jack Robinson" it is sold. When you employ me you will find that there is more to an auction than—"What am I bid?" Battle of Hemlines

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP)—There is a war blazing up today in which no woman can be an innocent bystander.

Girls, it's a battle you can't sidestep, unless you go around in a bathing suit. You can't skirt this issue:

"Should my new dress flap around my li'l ole shinbone, or should it just reach down far enough to tap my li'l ole kneecap?"

It's a real ticklish issue. An argument over the length of a woman's skirt is the height of nonsense to most men. But it has launched in Paris the "war of the fashions," and it promises to divide women into two classes as nothing else has but the institution of marriage or the question of bobbed hair.

There has been more than a suspicion that for a number of years the famous Parisian designers got together before the start of each new style season. Over a few friendly "French 75's" — Brandy in champagne — they were reported to have reached chummy but ironclad agreements on the two crucial problems: How far down to expose milady's bosom, how far up to expose her legs.

(Editor's note: Couldn't they avoid both problems by joining a nudist colony?)

Everybody was happy. The designers made money. The ladies were content, because they knew no rival dared try to gain male appeal by exposing more of her epidermis than the designers had decreed, as this would immediately stamp her as "brassy, definitely not in style."

But now that cozy cartel is a complete bust.

Christian Dior broke it in 1947 with his rebel "new look," The inspiration for which may have been the middle tent in the Ringling Circus. Remember the billowy dresses? A small woman sighed, "I have to take three steps before my dress begins to move."

Now Dior, after years of repentance, is leading another revolt in the opposite direction with something he calls "the live look." This, as nearly as I can gather, is his old "new look" after it had been sent to the laundry and come home shrunk.

It is hard for a male non-combatant to figure out what is going on in the Parisian fashion battlefield. But, according to late front-line dispatches from lady combat reporters in this war, Dior and a needle-and-scissors ally named Desses are making a do-or-die stand for a hemline a full 16 to 17 inches from the floor.

Schiaparelli is heading an old guard squad that is committed to go to any length to keep dresses at their present length.

She is also featuring a "too big look," and I guess that means clothing that will make a fat lady feel like a little girl, and a little girl feel like yelling, "Help! Get me out of here. I'm lost."

On the other hand, Dior's "live line" silhouette craftily emphasizes a built-up bustline, raising even another frontline problem in the war. Nobody knows why he picked "the live line" for a title instead of "the wolf's delight."

Although the Parisian designers, fighting at needle point, are bearing the brunt of the fashion war, it is the women of America who are doing the silent suffering. Whose army shall they enlist in—Dior's or Schiaparelli's?

Altitude enters in. A Dior outfit on a 5-foot-7 inch girl would fail below her knee and still give her a leggy look. On a 5-foot-2 inch girl the same dress would bisect her kneecap.

Since an estimated 75 per cent of American women are 5-foot-3 or shorter, Patricia Porter, women's editor of the Boston Traveler, predicts a Dior victory "may bring forth a million knees that have never seen the light of day."

Is there any man unwilling to face that prospect with fortitude?

This fashion war may unnerve women unable to make up their mind. But it's a boon to the American male. He's tired of women trying to be different by looking alike. Now, at last, the feminine landscape will offer a more varied choice.

On Dior! On Schiaparelli! Let's have no truce in "the battle of the hemline."

Reds Seize Food for Germans; Hand It Out as Aid From Soviet

BERLIN (AP)—Defying Communist arrests and confiscations, new masses of hungry East Germans swarmed into West Berlin today to snatch up free Western food parcels. Distribution of the American-financed gifts was due to pass the 1,000,000 mark during the day.

In the crowds, as the gigantic give-away rolled through its sixth day, were the vanguard of a weekend of thousands of Russian zone factory workers, using their day off to "come and get it." They included employes of the huge Leuna synthetic gasoline refinery and other large state-owned industries.

Many of these workers had defied Communist police and Russian tanks in the great strikes and demonstrations of June 17. Now they again showed their defiance of Communist orders by accepting the Western bounty.

By mid-morning the crowds around the big Schoenberg City Hall relief station were three city blocks long, with the standees four and six abreast. This station, which has been operating day and night, had to divert some of its clientele to a hastily-opened subsidiary "pantry" in a nearby school.

West Berlin authorities announced there would be enough food for all who applied. This could mean that parcels would be made available for all the more than 18 million inhabitants of the Russian zone.

Hundreds of East Germans had their prized fats, milk and flour seized yesterday and last night by Communist police.

Most of the confiscations occurred at Potsdam and other stations at the end of Berlin's suburban railway lines. The Communists then distributed the confiscated Western food as Soviet aid. West Berlin police quickly broadcast a warning for East Germans to find other safer routes home.

Bereaved Family Aided by Friends In Harvesting Crop

Special to The Star

IBERIA — Neighborly thoughtfulness was brought to light in the Iberia-Martel community recently when neighbors assembled to combine 34 acres of grain for Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Roesch whose daughter, Mrs. Betty Hissong, was killed in an automobile accident July 13.

Robert Sharrock, young farmer of the community, started the neighborly life when he suggested to Mr. Roesch that neighborhood combine operators would be glad to bring in five combine outfits to assist with the harvest.

Some 1,000 bushels of oats were combined during the morning and in the afternoon 17 acres of wheat yielding nearly 500 bushels were harvested. Salo Leathem, Robert Sharrock and Phillip Leathem were kept busy with wagons getting the grain to the bins and to the elevator.

Combine owners furnishing the equipment were Ward Sharrock, Dale Goken, Ray Lyons, Warren Shumaker and Elmer Leathem. The group ate dinner together at the Morrow restaurant in Iberia.

Two Morning Newspapers in Ironton Merge

IRONTON, Ohio (AP) — The two morning newspapers in Ironton will be combined, starting with tomorrow's edition.

Merger of the Courier and the Daily News was announced last night. The combined paper will be called the News-Courier.

The Courier started publication June 22. The Daily News was founded 54 years ago, but suspended publication for a while and resumed three months ago under new management.

General manager of the new firm, to be called the Ironton Publishing Co., will be Earl L. Sampson, general manager of the Courier. The two papers say they have a combined circulation of about 10,000.

An evening newspaper, the Tribune, also is published in this city of 15,851 population.

FISH STORY

JACKSON, Miss. — Jack Williamson, chief of fish distribution for the State Game and Fish Commission, can boast without fear of contradiction that he has turned loose more fish than bragging fishermen ever will catch. Last year he stocked Mississippi ponds and streams with 15,000,000 fish.

The greatest tonnage of river traffic in the United States is carried by the Ohio and its tributaries.

If you'd like to develop a reputation for unusual and successful salads, let imagination and variety be your guide. This innovation, crabmeat rice salad, for example, follows the ABC's of good salad-making—it offers interesting texture variations, it's easily prepared, it's tempting and it's different.

CRABMEAT RICE SALAD

Ingredients: 2-3 cup packaged precooked rice, 1 cup water, ¼ teaspoon salt, 1 cup mayonnaise, 1½ tablespoons diced pimento, 1½ teaspoons lemon juice, 1 teaspoon salt, ¼ teaspoon pepper, 1½ cups diced celery, 1½ cups of cooked peas, 1 cup (6½-oz. can) shredded crabmeat.

Method: Combine rice, water and ¼ teaspoon salt in saucepan. Mix just until all rice is moistened. Bring quickly to a boil over high heat, uncovered, fluffing rice gently once or twice with a fork. Do not stir.

Cover and remove from heat. Let stand 10 minutes. Then uncover and let cool to room temperature.

About 1 hour before serving, combine mayonnaise, pimento, lemon juice, 1 teaspoon salt and pepper, mixing well. Add celery, peas, crabmeat and the rice, mixing lightly with a fork. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

4-H Club News

The 4-H pledge and pledge to the flag were led by Patricia Malo at the Wednesday night meeting of the Martel Future Farmers 4-H Club held at the home of Larry Grimes. Phillip Leathem presided. Marion County Fair entry blanks were filled out by the 4-H advisor. Saturday, August 8, was set aside for project grading by Elwood Parrot. A special meeting will be held at the home of Charlotte Stevens on August 5. The regular meeting will be at the home of John Burkhart, August 10.

Maine's Animals Hit by Mange

KOKAJO, Me. (UP) — A mange epidemic is threatening Maine's fur-bearing animals.

Gus Harris, a Greenville druggist, saw a badly infected red fox in this part of northern Maine. His report confirmed the fact that the disease had spread from Kenebunkport in southwestern Maine where it was first reported.

Other persons have told of seeing numerous cases between the two points. The afflicted animals loose all their hair and become virtually helpless, dying when the snow covers easy sources of food.
